Price charges spying, wiretapping

Congressman Bob Price charged Friday his telephone has been bugged, he has been followed and his staff meetings have been infiltrated during his campaign for re-election as representative of the 13th district.

Price, on what was probably his last visit to Canyon before Tuesday's election, told a gathering of students at West Texas State University that the wife of his opponent, Congressman Graham Purcell, even sat in on one of his private staff meetings Thursday.

When students questioned his charge, Price reaffirmed: "Sure, my phone's been bugged. I have to have it cleared two or three times a day."

But, the congressional candidate passed these incidents — as well as the Watergate incident — off to what he termed the game of politics.

"That's a part of politics," he shrugged.

His response came after a question from a student concerning the so-called Watergate incident.

"Like Barry Goldwater said last week, McGovern hasn't created an issue over Vietnam, he hasn't created a domestic issue and I think he's concocted a lot of this," Price said.

Price was supposed to have simply walked through the student union building at WTSU, shaking hands and passing out campaign literature. But, a sociology class cornered the congressman and what was to have been a walk and smile session turned into a sometimes argumentative exchange between Price and a large group of students.

The students asked questions on almost every conceivable aspect of the campaign, as Price bandied about issues with apparent candor.

In a somewhat roundabout answer to a student question on why he refuses to debate Purcell, Price lashed out at the publisher of the Wichita Falls newspaper, who he said he is the Democratic county chairman in that county.

"The Wichita Falls paper has given about 500 inches of lineage to Purcell but only about 90 to us," he said. "This man (the publisher) has a monopolistic paper that brainwashes people."

Price said he will not debate Purcell because he doesn't want to give his opponent any more exposure than necessary.

The congressman accused Purcell of lying about several things — Purcell's probability of becoming chairman of the house agriculture committee, his statements concerning Price's non-sponsorship of a single bill in the Congress and his statements concerning Price absenteeism in Congress.

Price conceded that Purcell might eventually become chairman of the house agriculture committee, but he noted that if history repeats itself Purcell would be 86 years of age before he became chairman.

He said he had personnally sponsored eight bills which had been passed into law during his tenure in the legislature and had been co-author or sponsor of 36 bills passed into law.

In addition, Price charged that Congressman Olin Teague of Texas, chairman of a committee on which Price serves used his power to call committee meetings at any time to avenge an earlier Price disclosure about Teague's attendance record.

Dr. Hubert Oppe told Price the congressional election has become a mud-slinging campaign, which ultimately destroys voter confidence.

"It can't create confidence," Price said. "It destroys confidence, but I have to defend myself in some way."

Price avowed that he'd much rather tell the people about issues involved in the campaign. But, he said Purcell started the mud-slinging.

A good part of the hour session with students was spent on

VOL. 4 NO. 9 | CANYON, TEXAS | SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1972 | 14 PAGES | 2 SECTIONS | 15 CENTS

Congressman Bob Price greets a student well-wisher outside the student union building at West Texas State University Friday morning before entering the building to meet other students. The congressman wound up his campaign in the Canyon area with the Friday visit.

Hot races end, balloting Tues.

More than 20,000 Randall County residents are expected to go to the polls Tuesday to cast their votes for this country's leaders for the next two to four years.

Just over 28,000 persons in the county have registered to vote in the general election, during which offices from the Presidency on down will be filled.

Polls in Canyon and urban areas of Amarillo and Lake Tanglewood open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Tuesday. In rural areas, polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton expects a record turnout based on percentages from past elections. In fact, he expects a turnout of more than 90 per cent in the county, well above the national average.

Already, voters have cast absentee ballots for the election. Absentee balloting ended Friday.

Twenty precincts will open their doors to the voters early Tuesday and the larget voter turnout is expected in Southwest Amarillo where 7700 persons have registered in three precincts. Registered voters from the South Amarillo area of the county total more than 20,000.

About 5,000 voters are expected to vote in the three Canyon precincts during election day.

Punch-card voting is used in Randall County for voters and the computerized counting operation is expected to begin shortly after the polls close Tuesday night.

Complete results will be printed in The Canyon News Thursday.

The official test of the computerized counting system will be held at about 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Four political parties have candidates on this year's ballot — the Democrats, Republicans and two new parties, La Raza Unida and Socialist Workers Party.

Candidates from each appear in many races.

Top race in the nation is between incumbent President Nixon and his Democratic challenger George McGovern. The Socialist Workers Party has a presidential candidate, also, Linda Jenness.

Barefoot Sanders, a Democrat, is pitted against John Tower, incumbent GOP senator, in that race with challengers also from the Socialist Workers Party and Raza Unida.

In the 13th Congressional District race, Democrat Graham Purcell goes against Republican Bob Price, in what is expected by many to be a close race.

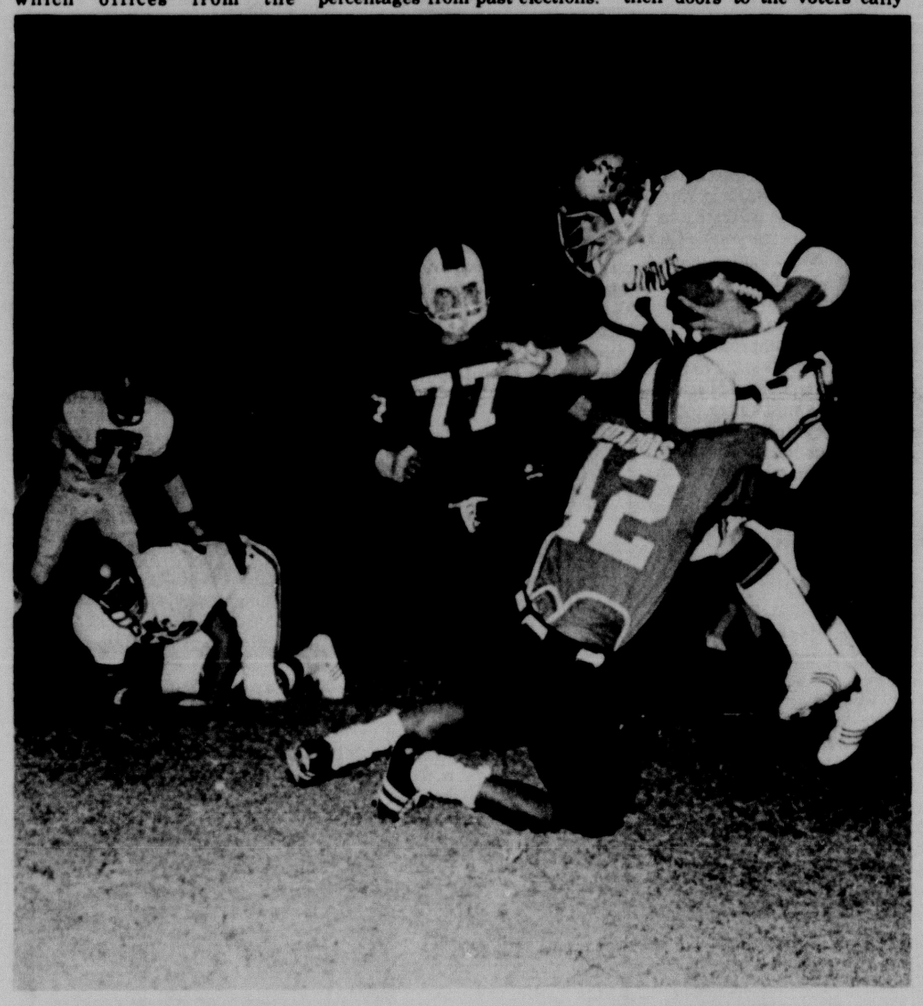

For governor, voters have a choice between Democrat contender Dolph Briscoe and GOP challenger Henry C. Grover.

Max Sherman, Democratic incumbent, runs alone for his seat as state senator from the 31st District.

Democratic incumbent Bryan Poff goes against reluctant challenger Rhett Plank, who tried last summer to have his name removed from the ballot only to find he must remain as a candidate.

W.C. "Cliff" Longest, incumbent sheriff serving out the unexpired term of the late Slim Johnston, runs unchallenged for sheriff of Randall County.

Key to sorghum future lies in the weather

The key to Randall County's multi-million dollar grain sorghum crop will be weather conditions in the next two to three weeks, County Agent John Brazzil said Friday as farmers and townspeople began cleaning up and assessing damage caused by last week's ice storm.

While the outlook for the sorghum crop looked grim Wednesday, Brazzil said there is some hope the majority of the crop can be harvested — if the weather is good.

"Some fields of unharvested Randall County grain sorghum withstood the ice storm in good condition," he said, "while other fields have a considerable amount of down heads and stalks."

Brazzil said most producers he talked with during the latter part of the week feel the weather during the next two weeks will be the determining factor in final losses suffered due to the sub-freezing icy spell.

The county's grain sorghum crop suffered a set-back in August when the weather played its first grim trick and offered no rain during the important maturing period for the plants.

This year's crop is valued at between $4 million and $5 million and is less than half harvested.

"The sorghum plants are now killed by the freeze and harvest will pick up as the ground and the grain reach dryer conditions," Brazzil said. "Stiff winds could be the major hazard since stalks with heavy heads and weakened and drying stalks can break and fall easily."

Brazzil believes most of the grain can be salvaged if good weather prevails for the next few weeks.

In the meantime, city residents slogged through mud under bright blue skies Thursday and Friday removing fallen tree limbs from their yards.

This area's worst ice storm in recent years heavily damaged already weakened trees in the city during its two-day encampment.

City Manager George Loudder, who announced last week that city crews will provide free pick-up service for all residences in Canyon of fallen tree limbs, said 70 loads of tree limbs were taken by the city to the city dump Thursday.

Crews continued Saturday to clean up and the massive job was expected to take an unestimated time to finish.

Canyon Boy Scouts took advantage of a holiday from school Friday to give the city crews a

Happy on course toward state title

This area's most likely state football champions, the Happy Cowboys stretched their district record to 7-0 Friday night by shellacking another Class B opponent.

The Cowboys, racking up more than 500 yards on offense for at least the third time this year, whammed the Matador Matadors 48-18 in an off-the-caprock tilt.

Sparkplugged by the power running of big halfback Chris Pearson, the Cowboys played a tight game of ball control as they maneuvered unscathed up and down the field in precision movements designed to eat up time and put points on the board.

The bulky Happy defense wouldn't budge an inch for the Matadors who put many of their hopes in little Cledell Campbell, a 135-pound speedster. But, Matador quarterback Steve Stevens punched holes in a jagged Cowboy defensive backfield as he peppered the Happy rear with passes during the second half of action.

The Cowboys scored almost every time they got the ball Friday night.

Their initial score came with less than 6 minutes gone from the first quarter clock as they drove just 20 yards for paydirt.

The score was set up when Gary Barrett recovered a bobbled punt on the Matador 20. In just three plays, the Cowboys had put Pearson around right end for 15 yards and the score.

Two minutes later, and the Matadors were on the clock.

After recovering a Cowboy fumble on the Happy 34, little Campbell scooted over left tackle for 34 yards and what might have been the tying score. But, Andy Hand and Ken Henry teamed up to block the extra point and the Matadors trailed with 3:03 left in the first quarter

Ice-damaged trees need pruning, care

The sudden winter blast and ice storm struck hard at the landscape trees and shrubs in Canyon and in Randall County and John Brazzil, county agent, offers suggestions on care and repair of damaged trees and shrubs.

Brazzil said partially broken and dangling limbs should be removed to prevent hazards as quickly as possible. The large limbs are salvageable for firewood.

A good pruning saw, long-handled loping shears, and antiseptic pruning paint are the minimum needed supplies and equipment for repair.

Safety equipment including sturdy ladders, safety belts, etc. will be needed by those who work in large trees, he said.

"Some heavy pruning will be necessary to repair damage," he said. "Limbs which are split or broken should be pruned back to a lower branch or fork. Jagged breaks and rough areas cannot heal properly. Limbs broken from the main trunk of the tree or shrub should be removed cleanly and smoothly flush with the trunk. Do not leave a snag or stump. Treat all exposed areas with a pruning compound after the cut area is dressed and smoothed."

The most troublesome injury is the repair of "V" crotches when large limbs or two main branches on the trunk have split apart, Brazzil said.

A skilled tree surgeon may be able to rejoin such tree parts by using elaborate hardware such as bolts, bracings, and special made devices but since the dormant season is ahead and new cells will not be generated until next spring, this type of

Sausage festival is just week away at Umbarger

The 20th Umbarger Sausage Festival is just one week away and again thousands of hungry, food-loving people from all over the country are expected to flock into the small German Community.

For weeks now, some 3,000 pounds of farm-fresh cabbage has been fermenting away, working itself into delicious sauerkraut, a vital part of the festive menu.

Thursday, the same people who six weeks ago gathered at St. Mary's Parish Hall to put up the kraut will be preparing the sausage which has made the town of Umbarger a gourmet's legend.

Using pork butchered by a commercial packing house, about 35 to 40 Umbarger neighbors grind and season the meat until it meets the high "taste test" standards that have caused the event to grow to its present magnitude.

"It's field tasted to make sure it's just right," said one who apparently had helped with the sausage making for several years.

According to Bernard Hartman, publicity chairman for the event this year, from 1,800 to 2,000 pounds of sausage will be turned out, with the steam cooking to take place on the morning of the Sunday event.

This year, as in years past, the menu will also include homemade bread, green beans, mashed potatoes, gravy, applesauce, relish dishes and cherry pie.

The anticipated 2,500 to 3,000 guests will be served from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. Tickets again are $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12 years of age. Children under age 6 will be served without charge.

In addition to the banquet-like meal, the community will again provide a country store stocked with bread and other food items, a bazaar offering handmade needlework, a fish pond and a raffle. Bingo, a part of past festivals, has been discontinued because of the large number now attending, Hartman said.

Among groups again expected to attend are the Air Stream Camper's Club from Lubbock, and the children from St. Ann's in Panhandle. The children's trip will again be sponsored by Harold Dillehay of the Farmer's Elevator.

For the past few years, both groups have attended, with the trailer club setting up camp at the location.

Tourism money to be asked by chamber for promotions

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce is expected to appeal to the City of Canyon at the city commission meeting Monday night for financial assistance in attracting tourists to the city and trade area.

Chamber president David West is scheduled to ask for up to one per cent of the city's budget as allowed by House Bill 226, passed and signed into law in 1971.

The bill, while allowing city governments to contribute to a City Board of Development, requires that a five-member advisory board made up of citizens be implemented to make recommendations regarding use of the funds.

Under the law, the City of Canyon this year could have contributed $4,639 to such a cause. The sum is based on 1972-73 budget figures.

In the operation of such a financial assistance plan, the citizen's advisory board would be responsible for recommending use of the funds, with final expenditures to be approved by the city commission.

The law allowing such use of public funds is limited to cities with populations under 500,000.

Commissioners will also review a petition requesting annexation of the W.R. Crow Subdivision located just east of the city and south of State Highway 217.

A petition signed by some 15 residents and landowners of the area requesting annexation is expected to be presented to the board.

The commission is also scheduled to prepare a statement for issuance at a public hearing being held Tuesday night by the Texas Highway Department in regard to proposed changes in the 15th Street-U .S . 60 intersection.

District title race is ended for Canyon's weary Eagles

The Canyon Eagles lost their district championship hopes Friday night when they dropped a 19-12 game to the Perryton Rangers at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium amid heated protests from coach Ron Mills.

With the Rangers leading 13-12 and 2:44 left on the scoreboard, Perryton's Bill Harrell broke loose with a 66-yard scamper to put the game on ice for the Rangers.

The Rangers had gone out in front in the second quarter on a 16-yard pass completion from quarterback Jimmy Dear to Harrell in the front corner of the endzone.

The kick by Perryton was no good.

The Eagles came back strong just before halftime after taking a Perryton punt out of bounds at the 8-yard line and moving it to mid-field as the gun sounded.

In that drive, the Eagles picked up two first downs with halfback Gary Bednorz eating up 29 yards on one long haul. The half ended as quarterback Ed Lair hit Bill Moore with a desperation screen pass which was stopped immediately at the mid-field stripe.

The Eagles tied it up at 6-6 in the third period when they put together three first downs and a pair of needle-eye passes.

After taking a Perryton quick-kick on their own 46, Bednorz got 5 yards on a trap and Lair hit Moore for a first down at the Perryton 40 for nine yards. A 5-yard penalty and a quarterback sneak gave the Eagles a first down at the Perryton 28.

From there, Lair tossed a bullseye to end Raby Ratliff near the 20 but it was ruled incomplete and returned to the 28. On the next play, halfback Gary Gerber grabbed another Lair toss at the

4 new directors named by chamber membership

Four new directors have been named by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce general membership, it was announced this week.

The directors are County Judge Woody Pond, Gene Glazener, Jerry Williams and Cordell Huddleston.

The new directors will take office Jan. 1, 1973.

Outgoing directors are Eddie Knowles, Eddie Holcomb, Dr. Robert West and Glazener. Glazener had been appointed to fill the unexpired term of Dr. C. C. Callarman who resigned from the director board.

The new directors will attend the chamber board meeting at 7 p.m. Monday and will vote on new officers for the board, but will have no other responsibilities until they actually take office in January.

County judge since 1970, Pond is a life-long Panhandle resident. He served as juvenile probation officer for the county for three years before his election as judge. He lived in Canyon from 1953-1960 and returned in 1967.

Currently, Pond serves as president of the Panhandle County Judges and Commissioners Association, president of the Panhandle-South Plains Youth Council, president of the Panhandle Community Action Corporation, and is a member of the local Lions club as well as several other legal organizations.

Huddleston, a native of Plains, is vice president and cashier of West Texas State Bank. He joined the bank in October 1970 after serving in a similar position at the Plains State Bank. Huddleston is a member of the Lions Club and is assistant Sunday school superintendent at the First Assembly of God Church here.

Glazener, a Canyon resident four years, is a certified public accountant. A native of Dalhart, he moved to Canyon from Amarillo. He is a member of the Lions Club and several professional organizations.

Williams, best known to area residents as Tuck Yelldell in the musical production of "TEXAS", is a Canyon businessman. He

Siftin' With Sands

Many Bumps Found In Road To Riches

By JIM SANDS

You know, it's funny how times change. When I was a kid growing up in Eastern Arkansas I thought if I wanted to get rich I'd have to strike oil or invent a "Hula Hoop" or something like that. Now days tho, it's the athletes... the guys who kick and throw balls around... who make all of the money.

Of course I was pretty active in sports during my younger days. I remember when I was in the 9th grade and went out for the basketball team. Most of the other kids were 7th and 8th graders.

I must have been pretty good too, because the coach was always using me as an example to the other players. I can still hear the coach yelling at one of the other boys, "No, Joe! No! That's the way Sands does it... I've told you a thousand times to watch Sands and do exactly opposite."

Well, I never did get into a regular game that year but I almost did in the district tournament. We were getting beat by about 52 to 12 and only had five men on the court and me on the bench. Everybody else had fouled out.

Anyway, one of the five on the court fouled out and the coach looked down the bench at me. "O.K. Sands," he bellowed, "Get in there and tell them we'll play with four men."

Well, the officials wouldn't go along with that. They said we couldn't play with just four men if we still had someone on the bench... so the coach put me in.

I had always practiced with my glasses on but the referees made me take them off for the game. Seemed they thought I'd break them and get hurt or something.

Anyway, we were moving the ball down the court and all of a sudden the other team intercepted a pass. We reversed directions and I ran over one referee. Then we got the ball back and started back the other way. And I ran over the other referee. Yep, we finished the game with four men on the court and me back on the bench.

But basketball wasn't the only sport that I was good at. We also had a baseball team.

I was a catcher, mainly because no one else was stupid enough to get behind the plate without a mask and the other stuff.

Anyway, we played our home games in sort of a cow pasture and it didn't have lights. And sometimes the games lasted a pretty long time.

One day we were all tied up about 15 to 15 in the 21st inning and it was getting pretty dark. The other team was at bat and there were two out. The batter hit a hot smash just over the second baseman's head into right center field. Joe Elrod, our right fielder, and "Flutsey" Patrick, our centerfielder, took off after the ball as it darted through the semi-darkness.

"Flutsey" had bad eyes but he would never wear glasses. Anyway, about the time he reached over to pick up the ball, a rabbit went hopping by. "Flutsey" grabbed up the bunny and hurled it toward home plate, a destination the opposing runner was about reach with the winning score.

"Flutsey's" throw came in to me on one hop and when I grabbed it and tagged the sliding runner, the ump yelled, "Out by a hare."

The game was called because of darkness and as best I remember, we never did get to finish it up.

Close Race Predicted

By CARROLL WILSON

About the safest thing you can say about the congressional campaign which pits Bob Price against Graham Purcell is that it's almost over.

The two candidates wrapped up their campaigns in Canyon Friday. Price shook hands and underwent an hour question session at West Texas State University during the morning and Purcell spent at least part of the evening at the Canyon Eagle-Perryton Ranger game in Kimbrough Stadium.

Any prediction on the outcome of this race would be difficult to make. Both candidates express confidence.

The decision for voters will be a hard one, I think — hard for those who don't vote a straight party ticket.

If the personal attacks which have characterized the congressional race are cleared away and the issues are examined, the difficulty in making a decision is obvious.

The candidates are conservative and they are at odds on few issues.

While Congress was in session, for example, it was a real horse race to see which Congressman, when presented with a thorny problem, such as hide exports, DES ban, the Russian wheat deal, could call for legislation dealing with the problems first. Usually, their reactions were similar if not the same.

The recent arguments about who supports President Nixon the most is an example of the lack of difference in the politics of the two.

Perhaps that's one reason the campaign in its waning weeks reached ground level in terms of mud slinging.

With the campaign near conclusion, it's pretty well a foregone conclusion that we're going to have Good Ole Dick to kick around for four more years.

The big question in many minds now is what's in store for us in 1976.

Teddy Kennedy is almost sure to emerge with the Democratic banner, but who will carry the standard for the Republicans?

Nixon's next four years could be the last four years for quite a while during which the GOP will retain the nation's highest office.

Revenue sharing money is on the way, some several hundred thousand dollars of it.

What will the city and county do with it when it gets here?

That's a question even city and county officials can't or won't answer right now.

Probably the best idea to come up on revenue sharing money is one already used in this area. City commissioners and county commissioners should appoint an advisory committee of citizens to examine local priorities and recommend where and how the money should be spent.

My hunch is that all that money isn't needed in Canyon. But, we've got it, and rather than dreaming up ways to use it I believe use of the funds should be studied long and hard.

Mrs. Marguerite Strain, who's been a city employee 27 years, could retire next spring. If she does, she'll receive retirement benefits at the rate of 5 per cent less than a man with equivalent service to the city.

Mrs. Strain has written several letters to attempt to get the Texas Municipal Retirement System to change their benefit structure.

Currently, according to law, the system discriminates on the basis of sex in that it allows men 5 per cent more benefits than it allows women with equal tenure.

The head of the system has denied it discriminates. He obviously doesn't know the law. And, he's obviously not going to change his system until forced.

Right now, Mrs. Strain is pondering her next move. She's been told she will have to file charges of discrimination against the City of Canyon, since the city endorses and enforces the system's discrimination by retaining the Texas Municipal Retirement System for its employees.

She's hesitant to do so.

And, she's also a little hurt that Canyon's city commissioners have apparently taken no action to help her.

City Manager George Loudder said last summer he'd back Mrs. Strain "a hundred per cent" in her quest to receive fair treatment.

So far, Mrs. Strain's received no indication that Loudder's given her one per cent support. She's received no indication that he's even too concerned about it.

And, city fathers have remained publicly mum about the retirement inequities.

Perhaps the extra five per cent Mrs. Strain would receive if the retirement system were't flagrantly breaking the law, seems inconsequential to the doctor, the insurance man, the businessman, the dentist and the retired businessman of the city commission.

But, it's a matter of grave concern for Mrs. Strain, who has devoted 27 years of her life to the city government.

Highway Changes To Be Talked At Public Hearing Tuesday

A public hearing to allow interested parties to discuss and ask questions in regard to proposed grade crossing changes in Canyon and just to the north of the city will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Canyon Community Center.

The hearing will be presided over by Texas Highway Department engineers, headed by district engineer "Chili" Smith. According to highway department sources, the proposed changes will affect the intersection of 15th Street and U.S. 60 in Canyon, and the intersection of Hunsley Road and U.S. 87 and 60 near Kimbrough Memorial Stadium.

The proposed project inside the city would call for an underpass to carry the four-lane highway under the city street. This would eliminate north-south city traffic having to compete with the high-speed highway traffic, said assistant engineer Richard C. Crandall of the highway department.

According to highway department plans, the service roads would remain in their present locations, and no changes would be made in the existing city street.

Cost of the 15th Street-U.S. 60 project has been set at $627,000 and reportedly will result in displacement of only one older building.

The Hunsley Road project, to cost an estimated $227,000 and create no displacement, would extend the dead-end road over the highway, allowing southbound service road traffic to turn north without the necessity of driving into Canyon, according to the highway department spokesman.

It would also turn the service roads into one-way traffic arteries, said Crandall.

According to County Judge Woody Pond, the county commission has in the past discussed the possibility of extending Hunsley Road east to Washington Street. "But no official action has been taken," he added.

The extension of Hunsley Road and a possible future access road leading into West Texas State University is dependent upon whether or not the proposed grade crossing change is made, Pond said.

According to Crandall, the proposed projects are "a good ways from accomplishment," but he added that they were far enough along to warrant the public hearing.

Construction bounds for both projects would stretch from State Highway 217 (11th Street) to Buffalo Stadium Road.

Plans regarding the project will be displayed at the meeting and similar plans and information are available to the public at the highway department's resident engineer's office in Canyon, at the Canyon City Hall, and at the Randall County Courthouse.

Persons desiring to submit written statements regarding the proposals will have ten days after the public hearing to do so.

Russian Wheat Suit To Be Eyed Monday

Area farmers are expected to attend a meeting Monday night here to continue discussions begun last week on whether a federal lawsuit should be filed against grain companies involved in the recent so-called Russian wheat deal.

The meeting is at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Lindsey Land and Cattle Co. office.

State Rep. Bryan Poff, who came to Canyon last week and talked with local farmers about a class-action suit, is expected to be at the meeting.

Three members of the county Farmer's Union met with Poff last week and said they would round up farmers to attend Monday's meeting.

Poff told the farmers last week he had been contacted by two Washington attorneys, one an ex-attorney general, about carrying the Randall County suit.

Poff said he believes the suit could be won in federal court. He said he believes information concerning the pending U.S.-Russia wheat sale was leaked to large grain companies allowing them to make huge profits on grain sales.

France Gives To WT Group

The French government has made a $200 grant to a West Texas State University French honor society as a result of a cultural visit to the campus.

The grant to Pi Delta Phi came from the cultural service division of the French Embassy in Washington.

Cultural attache F. Stuyck-Taillandier recommended the grant after attending a Pi Delta Phi initiation ceremony at the university last year. The invitation was extended by Karen Harp of Amarillo, society president at the time.

Jean Harve Donnard, embassy cultural advisor, said the grant would "show the sympathetic interest with which the cultural service of the French Embassy in the U.S. follows the activities at West Texas State University in favor of our culture."

Pi Delta Phi recognizes outstanding scholarship in French language and literature.

Two Canyon students have been elected officers of the Sociology-Social Work club at West Texas State University.

Junior Stanley Mong, a social work major, was named treasurer and senior Nancy Haning was elected to the public relations position.

Poison In Sorghum After Ice

Cattlemen who have been running cattle on fields which contain stalks and stubble of forages such as cane, sudan, Johnsongrass, grain sorghum, forage sorghums or plants within the sorghum family should remove the cattle for a few days to prevent death loss from poisoning.

A deadly poison called prussiac acid develops in the sorghum family of plants when first killed by frost or freeze, according to County Agent John Brazzil.

The poison develops often without warning and cattle grazing on the forage may die within a matter of minutes after eating the material.

The materials become safe again after a week to ten days after the plants have been dried after the freeze and safe grazing may be resumed, Brazzil said.

The frozen plants may be safely made into hay as the curing and drying process decreases prussic acid in the plants.

Science Program To Be Aired

A relatively new program in the teaching of the life and physical sciences will be outlined to elementary and junior high school teachers at Perryton Thursday by a West Texas State University professor.

The program, developed by Science Curriculum Improvement Study (SCIS) of Berkeley, Calif., "puts emphasis on student inquiry and science concepts," said Dr. Ronnie L. Waide, associate professor of education.

Waide will conduct the all-day workshop for the Perryton teachers.

"SCIS is highly adaptable to current programs being taught," he said. "I think it has one of the strongest life science approaches used today."

The WTSU educator attended a National Science Foundation Institute in Philadelphia last summer where he was trained in the SCIS program.

"It is one of the three major science curriculums for elementary schools in the country now," he said. "The program is strong on the East and West coasts but this is the first time for it to be brought to Texas."

Waide said where SCIS favors other science curriculum programs is that it lets the students get involved. "They are doing things instead of watching a teacher," he added.

He said the program "ties directly into the state-adopted text book series. It strengthens, the text book program."

Schools interested in learning more about the Science Curriculum Improvement Study should contact Waide through the WTSU College of Education, he said.

Letters To The Editor

McGovern-Wallace Link Eyed By John Kahler

Dear Troy:

This past Sunday the Canyon News printed a long political letter signed by various political followers of George McGovern. In this letter, the writers listed correctly the various public offices held by Henry A. Wallace but they failed to understand the spirit of the times of the opening years of the Cold War. Nineteen forty-eight was the grim year of the communist seizure of power in Czechoslovakia and of the Russian blockade of West Berlin, but these events were not mentioned in the letter which tried to justify the past association of George McGovern with the so-called "Progressive Party" in 1948. The letter did not mention that Henry A. Wallace fought against the Truman Doctrine, the Marshall Plan and the Berlin airlift. How did George McGovern stand on these questions?

A more fundamental question is why the Christian moral conscience of George McGovern was not more troubled by the imposition of Soviet control upon much of Eastern and Central Europe in the years which followed the end of the Second World War. Both as a Democrat and as a student of history George McGovern should have remembered and have valued the great diplomatic work of a great Democratic President of the United States, Thomas Woodrow Wilson, to secure the independence of Poland and Czechoslovakia. By the same tokens, both Henry A. Wallace and George McGovern should have understood that the brutal imposition of Soviet control upon Eastern Europe and the flagrant violations by Stalin of the pledges which he made at Yalta to President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston S. Churchill constituted the basic causes of the Cold War. Why did Henry A. Wallace and George McGovern denounce the work of their own country under the Presidency of their fellow Democrat Harry S Truman to contain the expansion of Stalinist Russian imperialism?

The claim that the state visit of President Nixon to Moscow represents the adoption of the foreign policy of Henry A. Wallace is not valid. The state visits of President Nixon first to Rumania and then to Poland indicate that the United States does not accept the argument that the Soviet Union has a natural sphere of influence in Eastern Europe. Clearly the visits of President Nixon to Rumania and Poland were designed to encourage the sentiments of national independence in these two Eastern European states. The fact that the United States continues to grant diplomatic recognition to the legations of the former governments of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania serves to confirm that the United States has not recognized as legal the Russian conquests in Eastern Europe. The visit of President Nixon to Moscow was for practical national business and without the pro-Soviet sentimentalism of the "Progressive Party" of 1948.

If the followers of George McGovern now seek to justify the association of their candidate with the self-designated "Progressive Party" of 1948, does this constitute a repudiation of President Truman by the victors in the most recent Democratic National Convention?

Thank you for printing this long letter which comes near to being a guest editorial.

Sincerely,
John Knapp Kahler

Teachers Support Amendments

Dear Mr. Martin:

The importance of having qualified people holding public office in Texas cannot be underestimated. The public officials of our state determine the legal and fiscal course Texas will take now and in years to come. It is necessary, then, to fill each of these responsible positions with a person who has a sound judgment, an acute awareness of current conditions on the local, state, and national levels, and an independence from undue pressure by monied special-interest groups.

The increasing number of items of legislation to be considered by our lawmakers makes it necessary that each representative spend more and more time studying bills, attending hearings, and generally doing our legislative work in Austin. At the same time the expense of political campaigns is skyrocketing. These problems place added burdens on a legislator, who must sometimes choose between neglecting legislative business to support himself and his family, going into debt, or accepting money in the form of various fees from special groups—money that might eventually cloud his impartial approach to legislation.

For the reasons stated, Canyon Classroom Teachers Association urges voters to support constitutional amendments #1 and #11, which would raise salaries for public officials. The proposed salary increases tend to reflect more fairly the amount of time these people must spend in our behalf. We feel that a vote FOR amendments #1 and #11 will be a vote for better state government.

Sincerely yours,
Herman Demus, President
Canyon Classroom
Teachers Association

Pig raisers, 4-H and FFA members take note!

Tomorrow, Nov. 6, in the Randall County Livestock Building, the first annual pig sale of Canyon's BONDED DUROC FARM will take place at 7 p.m.

Tomorrow's sale is featuring barrows to be raised as show animals. There are from 100 to 150 of these pigs ranging in size from about 50 pounds to 100 pounds.

Also on sale will be 65 registered Duroc females and 25 registered Chesterwhites females, also from the Bonded Duroc Farm 20 miles southwest of Canyon on FM 1705.

"Every animal on the farm is registered," says "Shug" Bonds, son of the manager, Eugene Bonds Sr.

The farm also boasts one of the few herds in Randall County that is validated against Brucellousis, a dreaded disease by swine raisers.

The farm is one of two in Randall county that is a member of the 100 Club.

"A member must register 100 head of breeding stock per year to acquire and maintain his membership in the club," explains Shug.

The Bonds specialize in Durocs because they found them to be the most prolific.

"When we started raising breeding pigs, we experimented with five or more different breeds. The Durocs tended to produce more and better pigs than the other breeds," said Shug.

The farm also raises Chesterwhites. Shug explained that the breeder may want to use these pigs in his breeding program to take advantage of the "hybred vigor" that results when certain breeds are crossed.

"Or he may simply prefer the popular long white hog. In either case we can help him," says Shug.

For more facts concerning the pig sale or advice concerning the swine industry or market, call Eugene S. Bond Sr. or Shug at the farm, 655-2607 or call Eugene at his home, 655-2646.

Cranmers Host Foreign Students

A gathering of 75 international students, their friends and sponsors sampled foreign and American dishes while becoming better acquainted at the L.E. Cranmer ranch southeast of Canyon last Sunday night.

The dinner was one of a series of monthly dinners for the International Student Association and their friends, hosted by people in the Canyon area. Foreign students usually wear their national costume and bring a native dish.

The International Student Association includes students from Hong Kong, Thailand, India, Japan, Columbia, Ecuador, Peru, Pakistan, Taiwan, Philippines, Chile, Latvia, Lebanon, and associate members from other countries as well.

Hsiang-kuen Mao of Taiwan, a student at West Texas State University, is president of the organization. Mrs. Carla Rodriguez of Canyon is the secretary.

welfare and welfare reform.

In response to questions, Price said he favors welfare for citizens who because of physical or mental infirmity cannot work and make livings for themselves. But, he said he is against welfare for able-bodied men who could find a job.

If men cannot find jobs in their own fields, he said, they should be retrained for other jobs.

repair will often fail, " he noted. "Most homeowners should remove one of the split limbs, carefully dress the exposed wood, smooth the injury with saw and chisel and treat the exposed wood with pruning paint.

Breaks and splits in the small limbs should not be neglected. Limbs up to one inch in diameter will probably heal properly if smoothly cut without wound protection but limb breaks larger than one inch will need attention.

"Severe dehorning has no place in tree repair and should be avoided," he stressed. "Dehorning is the complete top removal of large trees back to a few large stubs. This is not pruning but is often used as a time saver by inexperienced workmen or homeowners who do not wish to pay the cost of proper pruning. The choice to make is to decide to have the tree properly shaped or removed."

The elm tree is apparently the most severely damaged one, he said. During the past summer the insects such as the elm leaf beetle have reduced the vigor of elms and many are now unthrifty and unattractive and he said this might be a good time to remove some of the elm and replace them with better tree species.

Brazzil recommends that large tree species such as the thornless locust, improved hackberry, fruitless mulberry and pecan may be used as replacements. Most species of the evergreen family commonly called cedar are well adapted here. Pine trees such as the Austrian and Ponderosa do well here, and the blue spruce is a choice evergreen. Smaller trees such as the crab apple and sour cherry make attractive small ornamental additions, he said.

"When the clean-up and pruning has been done to remove evidence of the latest storm the job is not complete," he said. Follow up chores such as additional pruning and shaping for several years nay be necessary to reestablish some of the tree and shrub shapes and forms."

helping hand by stacking fallen limbs by the curb in front of residents' houses.

Loudder said crews cleared the front yards of all residences on 4th Avenue Friday and other priority streets were 5th and 3rd Avenues.

"We'll probably put on part-time people next week to help," Loudder said.

The city manager said local residents who wish to haul off their limbs can make free dumps at the city dump north of Canyon.

Joe Gidden, manager of Southwestern Public Service Co. in Canyon, said all main line electric service to Canyon and rural customers had been restored at weeks end. Even so, he said, service to some isolated areas of the county was still out.

Local crews, reinforced by four crews from Lubbock and one from Hereford worked around the clock much of last week repairing fallen power lines.

Gidden said about 300 customers were affected by power outages during the storm, which he termed the worst since 1959.

The electric company manager said many residents suffered power interruptions repeatedly during the early week storm because tree limbs fell on the lines after they were repaired.

This week, company crews will be making their repairs permanent.

"I'd like to thank all our customers for being patient until we could get them back on," he said. "We find the people in this county have the helping hand out and do anything to assist you."

10 and carried it into the end zone.

Canyon's try for the point after failed when the kick was knocked down by either team's forward wall. The TD had come with 3:30 left in the third period and made the score 6-6.

The Rangers took the Eagle kickoff in the person of Mike Haberthur who returned it from the 20 to the 40. From there the Rangers marched the 60 yards in eight plays, scoring on a power sneak by Dear.

The second conversion kick by the Rangers was through the uprights, making it 13-6 with 11:28 remaining in the game.

Steve Williams bobbled the Perryton kickoff at the 27, picked it up and returned it to the 35 before being brought down. From that point, Lair tossed a screen to Moore, good for 8, and then handed off to Bednorz for another 6. A 5-yard drop-back pass to Bednorz was good for 5 yards and a sneak up the middle for one gave the Eagles a first down on the Perryton 44.

Two plays later, Moore took another Lair pass to the 37. Lair missed Gerber on a bullet into the flat but then connected with Ronnie Cates for 14 at the 23.

Bednorz made no gain hitting the tackle slot and then Lair lost 12 yards when he was trapped in the backfield. With just under six minutes to play, Lair, operating from the 35, found Roger Burton at the 10, giving the Eagles their fourth first down of the series.

After Bednorz moved the ball to the 8, Lair found Roger Burton in the end zone for the second Eagle TD of the night.

A passing attempt for two points after was knocked down, but a Perryton penalty gave the Eagles another chance. On the second try, Moore hit the line but was short of the marker.

Perryton got the Eagle kickoff on their own 24 and after ground blasts by Ranger backs, they had third and one at the 34, just inches short of a first. It was on the next play that Harrell broke through the left side of his line, side-stepped a half dozen defenders, and then outran the pack into the end zone.

The try after was in the form of a pass to Don Martindale but it was called back for a Perryton penalty. The second try ended in failure when a Dear pass was caught out of bounds.

Canyon took the ensuing kickoff at the 35 when the Rangers tried an on-side boot. After a pitch to Moore around the left side saw no gain, Lair dropped back and heaved a bomb which was intercepted by Perryton on the Ranger 40.

With only two minutes left in the game, the Rangers used a series of penalties and line plays to run out the clock. As the final gun sounded, the visitors had the ball at the 45, moved there by a 5-yard infraction by the Eagles.

Canyon rolled up a total of 252 yards to 222 for the Rangers, with 150 of that coming on the arm of quarterback Lair. Unofficial figures showed Lair hitting 16 of 32 with the one interception.

Moore picked up 15 yards rushing and 48 on pass receptions while Bednorz got 80 on the ground and 6 in the air.

Coach Ron Mills said following the game that he "was proud of the boys. Perryton didn't beat us, the Amarillo officials did."

Mills then cited a half dozen official decisions that cost the Eagles possession of the ball or long yardage.

An apparent pass interception by the Eagles near mid-field, voided by defensive holding penalty, and one long Eagle pass ruled incomplete, were two that hurt the Canyon team, said Mills. "The 90 yards in penalties cost us over 200 yards," he added.

According to Mills, there was no doubt that Moore had gotten into the end zone on his try for the two-point conversion. The coach doubted that the Perryton quarterback had gone across on the Ranger's second touchdown. "He fell across afterward," Mills claimed.

The coach said his boys did an exceptional job, especially since they were operating without the services of four starters. "They deserved to win," Mills concluded.

by 7-6.

Seven plays later, with just a minute remaining in the quarter, the Cowboys scored again, this time on a razzle-dazzle reverse with Teddy Offield going over from the Matador 30. Again, the kick was good to make the score Happy 14 and Matador 6.

Happy got moving again early in the second quarter after forcing the Matadors to punt. Taking over on their own 30, they drove 70 yards in 8 plays with Pearson taking the ball in from the 2. The kick was good and with 8:35 remaining in the first half the Cowboys led 21-6.

Again forcing the Matadors to punt after only four plays, the Cowboys raced downfield from their own 35 this time scoring on a 1-yard run up the middle by Greg Looney. The kick split the crossbars and gave Happy a 28-6 edge.

Matador quarterback Stevens took to the air to put the Matadors on the scoreboard with less than 2 minutes remaining in the first half. The 26-yard missile hit Berry Bostick in the endzone and narrowed the Happy lead to 28-12.

On the initial set of downs in the second half, the Cowboys drove from their own 37 to paydirt in 9 plays with Looney going the last 18 yards around the left end. With 8:40 remaining in the third period, the Cowboys retained a substantial 35-12 lead.

Matador narrowed it again on the next series of plays, launching their first sustained drive of the night on the passing arm of Stevens. Stevens connected with his favorite target Bostick on three plays, the last of which was a 25-yarder for the TD. The pass helped but the Matadors still trailed with 5:41 remaining in the quarter by 35-18. It was their last score of the night.

The Cowboys romped back in the next series of downs and drove up the middle and over the sides, punching severe holes in the Matador line to consolidate their lead with 3:08 in the quarter on a 3 yard run by Looney. As the third quarter ended, the Cowboys held a commanding 41-18 lead.

Eight minutes later, the Cowboys hit pay dirt again, this time on a run through the middle of the line by Johnny Payne for four yards and Happy's 48th point.

For the next seven minutes Matador tried several unsuccessful rallies, while Happy launched another attack in the closing minute and as the final gun sounded Happy was threatening from the Matador 1 yard line.

The Cowboys racked up 553 yards on offense compared to a meager 202 for the losers. More than 530 yards of the offensive push came on the ground.

Happy tallied 29 first downs compared to less than 10 for the Matadors.

In attempting to put scores on the clock, Matador quarterback Stevens took to the air 19 times, completing 8 and having two intercepted.

Cowboy quarterback Mark Hargrave took to the air only four times and completed one pass.

Individually, Pearson racked up 200 total yards on offense, almost more than the entire Matador offense could muster.

Looney ran for 98 yards and Payne ran for 52.

Leading Matador rusher was Campbell with 59 yards.

The Cowboys play Sundown at 7:30 p.m. Friday night in Happy for their next-to-the-last season game.

Incumbent Republican Audrey Bruse faces Democratic challenger Ronnie Posey on the ballot for tax assessor-collector of the county.

Jim Fletcher, incumbent, and Paul Lindsey run alone in separate precincts for county commissioner.

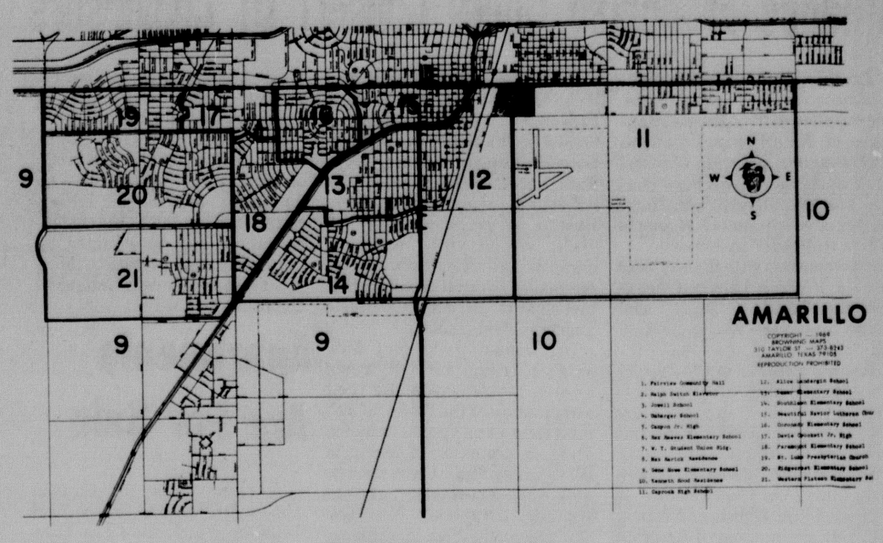

And, Farrell Randle is on the ballot as a candidate for constable in the county.

In some county precincts, those in South Amarillo, voters will find a proposition on their ballots on the legal sale of all alcoholic beverages including mixed drinks.

Every ballot includes 14 constitutional amendments which must be decided by voters.

The amendments range from those concerning action for specific areas of the state to those which call for a constitutional revision and women's equality.

Hutton said a new ruling by the secretary of state says county residents may take a list of the constitutional amendments into the voting booth with them. Law still prohibits voters from taking pre-marked ballots for candidates into the booths.

Apartments Are For Sale

A trustee sale for Canyon Creek Apartments will be held between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Tuesday at the front door of the Randall County Courthouse.

A notice filed last week by Trustee T. L. Proctor offers the 100-unit complex for sale to the highest bidder.

FHA official Don Earney of Lubbock expects to purchase the property. The FHA insured the $1.2 million loan on the apartments, which are located on a 7.89 acre lot in north Canyon.

Earney said last week the FHA expects to assume ownership and will run the apartments for between eight and 16 months before attempting to sell the property to private investors.

County To Eye Radar Request

Highway Patrolman Ron Boyter is expected to appear before Randall County commissioners again Monday afternoon to formalize his request for additional radar equipment.

Boyter appeared two weeks ago and requested the county lease or purchase one and possibly two new radar units which would allow the highway patrolmen to take radar readings while their cars are in motion.

The county is also expected to consider a plat to be presented by Pete Hudson.

Canyon Student Is Awarded Geology Stipend

Joe Mark Baker, Canyon junior, has been awarded the Geology Merit Scholarship for the 1972-73 academic year at West Texas State University.

A former student of the Dalhart schools, Baker was graduated from Waco Richfield High School in 1968.

He and his wife, LaNette, reside at 2307 N. 3rd, Canyon.

News Brief

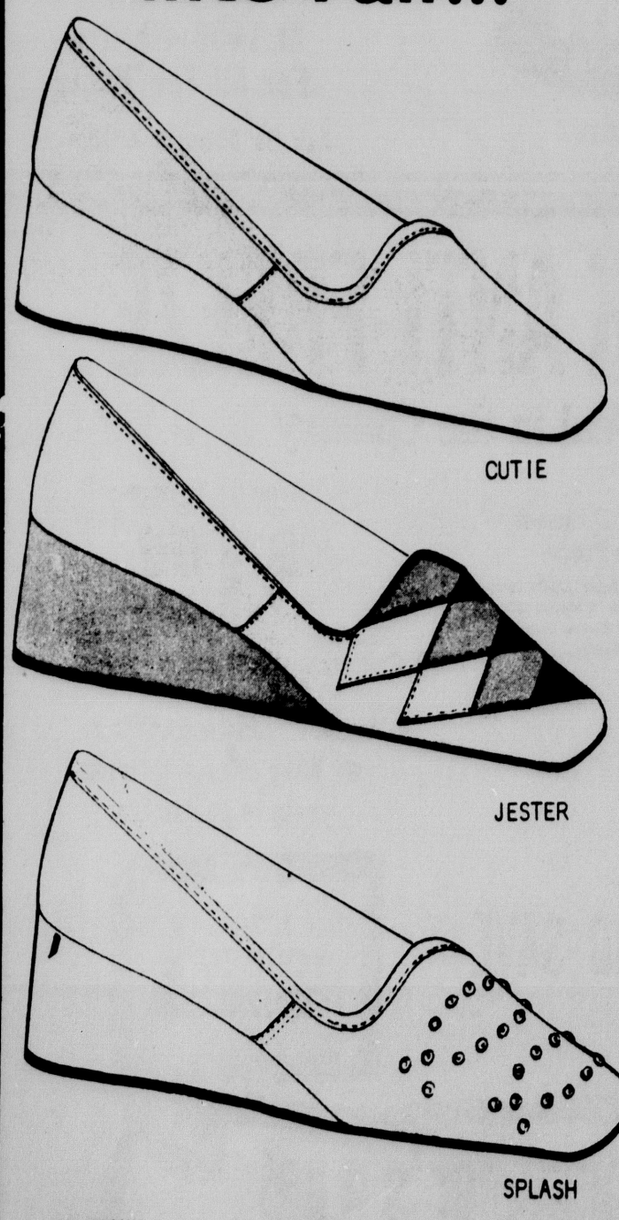

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Briggs and Mrs. A.A. Clark have recently returned from visiting with Dr. and Mrs. Barry G. Clark in Charlottsville, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Ted C. Briggs in Washington, D.C.

While there they went on the fall foliage drives in Virginia and in Tennessee. Mrs. Clark went with her son and family and spent the day in historic Williamsburg. As they drove home, the mountains of Virginia, Tennessee, and Arkansas were all ablaze with color, making it a beautiful drive.

The Purcell-McGovern Ticket

Would you buy a used car from a man who did not believe in or recommend what he had to sell ?

The answer is obvious! Of course you would not!

Isn't the future of your country worthy of the same consideration as the purchase of a used car ?

What does professional politician Graham Purcell really stand for ?

His multi-millionaire, power-hungry supporters, in a full page ad in the Amarillo papers, November 2, 1972 , contend that

"Graham Purcell supports every President when he thinks the President is right."

But Graham Purcell has firmly stated he supports George McGovern whom he thinks is wrong.

Read what this politician, gerrymandered into the Panhandle by the most corrupt Texas Legislature in history, says, and decide for yourself.

"I will vote for McGovern. I do not favor his platform or position but I will vote for him."

Read what such a man selling a used car would say:

"I want to sell you this car but its bearings are shot and its motor won't run -- I know it's no good but I love the money and want my commission."

Isn't the future of my country worth more than a politician without moral bearings or a beat-up car that won't run ?

With Ingenuity, Anyone Can Create A Fall Flower Arrangement

With nature's autumn pageant now in full swing in the Panhandle and providing ample materials, the Canyon Garden Club is urging everyone to enter their flower show, "Fall in Randall County," Nov. 16, 17, and 18.

Any adult or school child living in Randall County may enter an arrangement and be eligible to win a ribbon.

But Mrs. Joe Frank, one of the Garden Club members working on the show, stresses the important first step of collecting an interesting assortment of materials. A possible hard frost could destroy the color and texture of some of the foliage, and other materials may require drying or treating for a week or two.

For those who care to examine the landscape closely, autumn in the Panhandle brings on a profusion of burnished fruits and berries, coppery foliage, bursting seed pods, feathery grain heads and other novel forms. Placed in a pleasing container, combined with some interesting accessory — figurines, candles, weathered wood or rocks — such items could make an award-winning arrangement.

The materials Mrs. Frank uses include bean pods, seed pods from magnolias, dried fruit, gourds, squash, dried mushrooms, pine cones, yucca pods, wild dock, berries of all kinds, corn, small branches, Johnson grass, grain heads, cattails, dried okra, and so forth.

Some of the materials, such as bean pods or berries, may need drying. This is done by tying them in small bunches and hanging upside down in a place out of the wind and sun. "I dry mine in the garage," says Mrs. Frank.

Leaves, leafy branches or long blades of grass such as Johnson grass, may also be treated to retain their flexibility and color. This is done by immersing the stems in a solution of glycerine and water (half and half) for about a week and a half or two weeks. Glycerine may be purchased at a grocery or drug store.

Materials may be used in their natural state or painted, dyed or shellacked also. Some use a commercial liquid plastic to give a glossy effect to squash, rocks, pods and other materials.

The arranger may wish to use a pinholder or frog to hold the materials in the container. Tacky tape, a sticky substance in ribbon form, is also invaluable for positioning materials and may be purchased in a variety store.

"The next thing to consider after you've collected materials is the container," said Mrs. Frank. "It should not 'steal' from the arrangement, but blend with the whole. I wouldn't use anything with a highly glazed surface. And it is most pleasing if it has some color included in the arrangement."

"Plan an arrangement that will be at least one and a half times the width or height of the container," she continued, "and then place something tall to establish the height and line of the arrangement." She suggested a branch, cattail, tall sprig of Johnson grass or possibly dried okra for this.

Mrs. Frank explained that she usually placed the tall pieces, then the lower part of the arrangement, and after that filled in the rest of the arrangement. However, the arranger can really choose his own method to achieve an eye-catching effect.

"Something round should be included — usually flower forms, such as strawflowers, in several sizes," she added.

Most arrangements also contain some accessory to establish a theme. A figurine, large pumpkin, striking candle, artificial animal or bird might be used, for example.

The class titles for entries in themselves suggest a theme. "We tried to keep them simple so that anyone might feel capable of creating an arrangement," commented Mrs. Frank.

The classes are as follows: Class I-A arrangements, Thanksgiving centerpieces, open to any adult; Class I-B, "Indian Summer," open to novice arrangers; Class II, "Beauty in a Basket," for high school students; Class III, "For Father's Desk," for junior high students; and Class IV, "I Found Something Pretty," for elementary school students.

The entrant should write his name at the top of a piece of paper, and below that his grade, teacher's name and school. The identifying paper will be taped to the exhibit so that the name is not seen by the judges.

The Garden Club is asking that arrangements be brought to the all-purpose room at Rex Reeves Elementary School after school on Wednesday, Nov. 15 or before 1:00 p.m. on Thursday Nov. 16. They must be removed from the school between 3:30 and 4:30 on Nov. 18.

Gene Howe students may bring their arrangements to Gene Howe school where they will be shown on Nov. 17.

For further information, persons may call Mrs. Joe Frank at 655-4555 or Mrs. M. S. Downing, 655-3364.

The Panhandle is abundant with materials such as seed pods, corn, squash, berries, and cattails that can be used for making a fall arrangement for the flower show to be staged Nov. 17 and 18 in connection with Food and Fiber Week. Here Mrs. Joe Frank, a Garden Club member, displays some of the typical items used.

Dallas Firm Aids WTSU

Cottingham Bearing Corp. of Dallas launched West Texas State University's industrial distribution program with a contribution of $1,000 Friday night.

W.H. Wood Jr., Cottingham vice president, said the company would commit itself to the university's program for at least the next four years.

He said the company would place no restrictions on the use of the money for industrial distribution training.

West Texas State is one of only three colleges in the country offering such a program in the Department of Industrial Education.

Graduates of the program are in high demand by industrial distributors throughout the country, said Michael Workman, instructor in industrial education at WTSU.

Charles Canida of Amarillo, Panhandle area manager of Cottingham Bearing, presented a $200 scholarship Friday night to initiate his company's interest in the WTSU program.

The recipient was Haley A. Haynes, 26, of Sanderson, Tex., a senior industrial distribution student. Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Haynes of Sanderson, is married and lives at 2100 1st Ave. in Canyon.

Cottingham Bearing has 21 stores in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, including Amarillo, Borger and Hereford. It is a distributor of bearings for various industrial uses.

Black Curriculum Topic Of Seminar At WTSU

The Rev. Reynell M. Parkins, an Episcopal Church priest, educator and lawyer, was keynote speaker in the first in a series of seminars on the multicultural classroom which started Friday at West Texas State University.

The six, weekend seminars, open to teachers and school administrators, are co-sponsored by the WTSU College of Education and the University of Texas Center for Public School Ethnic Studies.

The black curriculum was the topic of this weekend's seminar.

The seminar commenced with a banquet Friday and closes at noon today.

The Rev. Mr. Parkins, 55, an associate professor in the School of Architecture at the University of Texas, was ordained to the priesthood in 1965 while serving the Episcopal Church in Corpus Christi.

A native of Panama, he was graduated by New York University with a bachelor's degree in sociology and later received a Juris Doctor Degree there.

After practicing criminal law, he moved to South Texas and worked with the City-County Welfare Division of Nueces County (Corpus Christi).

In 1964 he received a Master of Divinity Degree after three years of study at the Episcopal Theological Seminary in Alexandria, Va. That same year he was ordained a deacon and the next year a priest.

Upon his return to Corpus Christi, the Rev. Mr. Parkins established St. Martin's Episcopal Church — a tri-ethnic congregation with which he demonstrated the viability of a non-neighborhood church.

Through his efforts the six Episcopal churches in the Corpus Christi area joined to organize a non-profit corporation and build a rent supplement project consisting of 110 apartments and a community building.

In 1968 the Rev. Mr. Parkins was one of 12 delegates of the Episcopal Church in America to the World Council of Churches at Uppsala, Sweden.

He has taught at the University of Corpus Christi. He was the organizer and president of Community Development Corp. of Austin, a non-profit organization that serves to indemnify Austin banks against loss from loans made to low income persons for rehabilitation of their houses.

Other black curriculum seminar panelists included Dr. Harold W. Lang, who holds four degrees, including a Doctor of Education, and presently is director of systemwide testing for the Dallas Independent School District, and Hunter O. Brooks, Paula Barker and Margie Whatley, all of Houston.

Subsequent seminars will be on group techniques for classroom teaching next weekend and next Feb. 23-25; Chicano curriculum Nov. 17-19 and Dec. 1-3; and cultural awareness Jan. 19-21.

Profs, Students Return From Nat'l. Convention

Two professors and two students in the department of industrial education at West Texas State University returned recently from the National Association of Industrial Technology convention in Memphis, Tenn.

Dr. Moreland and Workman have served on various committees on the national organization and Workman has been selected as assistant director of a region which includes six states.

Burney was named WTSU's member to the student executive council.

Two Amarillo men were arrested last week by Amarillo policemen and later charged with the felony offense of malicious destruction of property in connection with the damaging of more than a dozen cars in Potter and Randall Counties.

Eddie Dean Riley Jr., 18, and Louie Eugene Clark, 20, both of Amarillo, were arraigned late Wednesday before Justice of the Peace W. A. "Bill" Wilson, who set bond at $2500 each.

The two are charged with damaging one vehicle in Randall County, but Randall County Dist. Atty. George Dowlen said as many as 19 vehicles are believed to have been damaged by the pair.

Price is right for Texas.

Bob Price is a full time congressman. His attendance record on voting of 93% is one of the highest in the Congress. By comparison his opponent has the second worst attendance record in the entire Texas delegation.

Bob Price has approached legislation with a conservative and careful outlook. He has earned a 90% rating by the ACA, compared to his opponents 42%.

Bob Price has worked hard to bring new industry, expand present firms and to thereby create new jobs. The Panhandle's "Business Index" is one of the highest in Texas.

Bob Price has introduced or co-sponsored 36 pieces of legislation that have become public laws. These are a matter of record, in spite of his opponent's clever misrepresentations.

Bob Price fights against inflation. He has an 88% rating by the National Associated Businessmen's Economy. His opponent only 50%.

Bob and Marty own their own home in Pampa. Two of their children attend the Pampa public schools. Bob is a graduate of Okla. State. He returned to Pampa after the Korean War. Before his election to Congress he was active as a business leader, in civic affairs and taught Sunday School in the First Baptist Church in Pampa.

He was first elected to Congress in 1966. Was reelected in 1968 and because of his popularity had no opponent in 1970. When a man earns this respect from both political parties it is proof of his ability and hard work.

It's easy to see why people feel Price is right for Texas. He is an honest sincere person who stands up for his principles. Thank goodness, his principles are the same as made this country great.

Retired WTSU Math Prof Starts OPI Division

Announcement was made this week of the establishment of the Edna Graham Division of the Opportunity Plan, Inc.

Miss Graham of Waco, was one of West Texas State University's most eminent professors, having instructed mathematics here for 33 years. She retired in 1952, at which time a former student, Dr. John Randolph of the University of Rochester, initiated an Edna Graham scholarship fund.

Eighteen senior math students have been recipients of this scholarship.

Miss Graham presented Milton "Buff" Morris, executive vice president of the OPI, with an initial contribution Monday to establish the Edna Graham Division. She said she will add to the fund, and at the same time, with firm convictions concerning scholarships, declared she had made definite arrangements for increasing her gifts to the math scholarship fund.

"Miss Graham highly commended the purposes and achievements of Mr. Morris and the Opportunity Plan," Mrs. Alice Short Smith, McLean, says. Mrs. Smith, a WTSU alumna, accompanied Morris to Waco to visit with her former math teacher. She is also the benefactor of the J.C. and Amanda E. Short Division of the Opportunity Plan, Inc., and a member of the board of directors.

Morris commented, "Miss Graham is a great mathematician, a great teacher, a great lady, and we deeply appreciate her interest in and contributions to the Opportunity Plan."

Miss Graham, whose activities even after retirement could put young housewives to shame, became a world traveler during her 51 years as a teacher. She served in countless capacities associated with the university and educational organizations, not the least of which was national president of Alpha Chi. She sponsored the local chapter for 18 years. She was also a leader in Christian education at the First Baptist Church here.

Miss Graham has always contended that "there are many rewards in teaching." Upon her retirement in 1952, she boasted of her students as "jewels," and said she planned to "sit back and watch her jewels sparkle."

Although she did not "sit back," (she continued to travel, meet speaking engagements, and serve) her jewels have indeed been "sparkling." To be sure, recipients of her scholarship have attained distinctions in their own rights. Six have received the degree of Ph.D.; three others are pursuing the doctorate degree; four have received the master's degree; four have been involved in computer programming; and one is a NASA division manager.

Sue Hite Club Explores Oriental Art

Mrs. Ray Lumry, hostess for a recent Sue Hite Club meeting that featured oriental art, displays a woodblock print, Imara plate and statue of the "Goddess of Mercy" that were used in the program.

The home of Mrs. Ray Lumry, furnished with many fine examples of Japanese craftmanship, was an appropriate setting for the recent program on oriental art enjoyed by members of Sue Hite Club.

Using as examples actual works of art or reproductions, Miss Virginia Allen gave the history of oriental painters, showing the impact of art on cultural development.

Following Miss Allen's discussion, Mrs. Mitchell Jones, Mrs. Oscar Hinger and Mrs. Flora Phillips gave a three-part presentation on calligraphy, woodcuts, printing and running, again using examples and illustrations.

The hostess and those giving the program brought color and authenticity to the event by donning oriental costumes supplied by Mrs. Lumry, who had acquired them while she and her husband, Col. R. H. Lumry, were stationed in Japan during the years 1956-59. Mrs. Lumry and Mrs. Phillips wore kimonos, Mrs. Jones wore a Hoppy coat over pants, and Mrs. Hinger wore a Chinese costume.

Tea was served in Japanese style from a table covered with ramie cloth, centered with a floral arrangement in a low bowl placed on a bamboo stand. Guests were served with Japanese tea service by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hatcher Brown, Mrs. B. E. Perkins and Mrs. C. E. Crounse.

Among the items used to illustrate the program were three Japanese dolls, characterized as "Okota Player," "Madame Butterfuly," and a dancer, unnamed. They were handmade by Japanese dollmakers, experts in their craft, and wore costumes carried out in exquisite detail.

The dancing doll was a "Sayonara" gift by a high official to Col. Lumry when he left Japan, and bears on the back a farewell message in Japanese calligraphy.

"When you leave Japan you always give parting gifts, and they always give you one — that is the Japanese way," explained Mrs. Lumry. Col. Lumry had been stationed at Camp Zame near Yokohama as a high staff intelligence officer, and as such, he and Mrs. Lumry attended many state functions. "We did things we will never do again," she recalls, "such as attend a cherry blossom viewing party at the invitation of the foreign minister."

Among other works of art furnishing her living room are Japanese woodblock prints by the French artist Paul Jacoulez, whose works are partly out of circulation now. Fine examples of Imara pottery, statuary, and Japanese furniture can also be seen. A colorful folding screen is paneled in silk obi cloth of pine and foaming wave design in soft ivory, blue and green colors.

A teakwood chest and low curving "obi" chairs are some of the pieces of furniture that lend an Eastern flavor to the Lumry home. The chairs are so called because they can be upholstered with cloth from one obi.

The next meeting of Sue Hite Club will be at 3:45 p.m. on Nov. 27 at Rex Reeves Elementary School. Mrs. Edith Priddy will speak on "Religious Art and Architecture," with accompanying slides.

Mrs. Ray Lumry, 505 Taylor Lane, poses in Japanese style and costume, behind three dolls from her collection of Japanese art and craftsmanship acquired in Japan. They were used at a recent program of the Sue Hite Club.

Show Officials To Conference On Tourism

Two representatives of the musical-drama "TEXAS" will attend a two-day Governor's Conference on tourism and community development this month in Houston.

Raymond Raillard, show manager, and Mrs. Margaret Harper, public relations director, will be in Houston Nov. 15 and 16 for the conference, an annual event.

Raillard said the conference will include presentations by specialists in community development and tourist development.

The conference, sponsored by the Texas Tourist Development Agency and the Texas governor, is aimed at increasing tourism and helping cities attract business.

Marketing Students Test Product Effectiveness

A North Texas small foods producer is using the student marketing club of the West Texas State University School of Business to conduct a test marketing survey for his product.

The producer is Ormando Ordonez, a Cuban refugee, who established International Delight and Candle-Light Foods at McKinney near Dallas last year. The company produces four varieties of Spanish food.

Ocie Chism, assistant professor of business and sponsor of the WTSU chapter of the American Marketing Association, said:

"We can help this company and at the same time give the students practical experience in marketing research, developing a channel of distribution and doing audit work."

Chism added that the students "will be getting experience in the same kind of work they would be involved in if they worked for any major food manufacturer."

The marketing club has begun distributing samples of the Spanish food in Canyon.

Accompanying the samples is a questionnaire which the consumers are asked to complete and return "to us for tabulation and recommendation to the food processor," Chism said.

The four types of food are Arroz Con Pollo, rice and chicken; Congri, rice and beans; Fiesta Rice, rice and vegetables; and Paella, seafood and rice.

A new aspect of the product is the "boil in the can" convenience, Chism said.

He said the food products will be for sale in the grocery stores in Canyon during November.

Students will be responsible for counting how many cans of the food have been sold each week at the control markets, and stocking and displaying the product.

Chism said, "We will take two counts a week at the test markets for two or three months. By that time the rebuying cycle should be established."

If the results are favorable, he said, the marketing club plans to expand its area of distribution to Amarillo and eventually to the entire Texas Panhandle.

"The product is aimed at the mass market and is competitively priced," Chism said.

Officers of the WTSU marketing organization are president William Sticksel of Amarillo, vice president Richard Phillips of Amarillo and secretary-treasurer Kathy Gulick of Del Rio.

Book Club Will Stress U.S. Heritage

A panel discussion on 'Two Centuries of Americanism," aimed at reminding members of the American heritage and need to preserve it, will be the program for a meeting of the Woman's Book Club next Wednesday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the United Methodist Church.

Panel members for the program stressing patriotism will be Mrs. Andy DeWees, Mrs. M. J. Morris, and Mrs. Rose Kinzer. Hostesses for afternoon will be Mrs. T. K. Knighton and Mrs. D. K. McGehee. Mrs. Charles Harter will preside.

As part of the planned activities, members will repeat "The American Creed" and sing the last stanza of "America."

"The American Creed" is a blending of expressions from many historic documents, and reads as follows:

"I believe in the U.S.A. as the government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity, for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag and to defend it against all enemies." — by William Tyler Page.

Purple People Eaters Prove "Tough To Beat"

The Purple People Eaters of Kids Inc., football had a hectic season but their record of no wins, four losses and two ties hardly tells the complete story.

The Canyon 10-year-olds started off with a 0-0 tie and the following game was lost by a 6-0 score. The third encounter cost them a 14-0 loss and this was followed by another 6-0 squeaker defeat.

After failing to win in the first four games despite holding the opposition to a total of 26 points, the youngsters were finally overcome by a lopsided score, 28-6. And even in that one they were tied up 6-6 at the end of the half as they posted their first points of the year.

In the final game of the season, the Purple People Eaters again rose to the occasion and held a strong Lamar team to a 0-0 tie.

They didn't win a single game but, according to coach Wayne Williams, neither did they "get down on themselves." Williams said the boys "kept their poise" throughout the dismal times and not once faltered in spirit or in sportsmanship.

"A lot of teams would have lost heart and given up," the coach added.

9th Purple Takes Win Over White

The 9th grade purple downed the 9th grade white from Canyon Junior High School in a 20-0 rout Thursday night here.

Lindon Brazzile made the first purple score on a 20-yard pass from Allen Shankles. Extra point try was no good.

Craig Johnson followed his first score with a 60-yard run and Stan Prichard ran the extra point.

Final purple score was made by Phillip Halsted on a pass from Shankles. Again, the extra point try was no good.

Junior high football season ends this week.

The 7th grade white played Saturday and the 7th purple is to play Tuesday. The 8th grade purple and white teams are in action against each other Tuesday night while the 9th grade white meets River Road and 9th grade purple meets LaPlata.

Basketball season begins at mid-month.

Basketball Is Next For Kids

Football season for Kids, Inc., youngsters has ended and basketball season is just around the corner.

Forty boys said Thursday night they will play in a local Kids, Inc., basketball league.

Teams are expected to be formed within the next few weeks with each team to include between seven and 10 boys.

Girls won't be left out of this basketball season, because Kids, Inc., will also sponsor a girls basketball league.

At a meeting Thursday, Kids, Inc., sponsors decided to offer youngsters a soccer league next fall to run consecutively with football season.

The five Canyon football teams were presented patches during the meeting.

Members of the Pee Wee Eagles received four patches each, one for lettering, one for sportsmanship, one for participating in the Toy Bowl and one for their league championship.

Members of the Cyclones received three patches each, one for lettering, one for sportsmanship and one for playing in the Toy Bowl.

The Cougars received three patches each, one for lettering, sportsmanship and for winning their league championship.

The Headhunters received two patches each, one for winning their league championship and one for lettering.

The Purple People Eaters received one patch each for lettering.

Max Brummett was appointed as roundup man for next year's Kids, Inc., program here.

He announced that a part-time Canyon office for the sports program has been opened at 14th Street and 5th Avenue.

Breakfast Set For Veterans

The American Legion post in Canyon will host a veterans breakfast Nov. 11 at the community center.

The morning meal, which will be free for all servicemen, former servicemen and their families, begins at 7 a.m. and ends at 9 a.m.

The menu includes bacon and eggs, toast, jelly and coffee.

Post commander Wes Kleinschmidt is in charge of the breakfast.

'Rain People' Due Showing

A housewife who forsakes hearth and home to launch on an American odyssey is the subject of The Rain People, a film to be presented Thursday and Friday at West Texas State University.

The Francis Ford Coppola film, a presentation of the Student Activities Council, will be shown at 8 p.m. in the activities center ballroom. Admission is 75 cents.

The Rain People takes the viewer onto the highways and byways of America.

To achieve realism, the film crew organized a caravan ranging from a bus to minibikes that formed a mobile film-producing unit with facilities for viewing and cutting film en route and a production office. The shooting was done in 18 states in as many weeks.

Starring in the film are Shirley Knight, James Caan and Robert Duvall.

Maurice Angly

State Treasurer

State Representative Maurice Angly is opposing incumbent Jesse James for state treasurer. Rep. Angly is an Austin attorney with a thorough knowledge of state government. A hard-working, effective legislator since 1967, Rep. Angly is married to attorney Surrenden Hill Angly. They have three children. Rep. Angly was one of the original small group of legislators who stood firm last year and spoke out for a full investigation of the Sharpstown scandal.

Rep. Angly is the only Republican ever elected in Austin, and he has been reelected twice as the top vote-getter of all GOP candidates on the ticket — because he earned bi-partisan support. Pledging to run the treasurer's office as a public trust, Rep. Angly would refuse to play favorites as James has done for years.

On November 7, vote for reform and responsible state government with Rep. Maurice Angly for state treasurer.

Price charges spying, wiretapping

Congressman Bob Price charged Friday his telephone has been bugged, he has been followed and his staff meetings have been infiltrated during his campaign for re-election as representative of the 13th district.

Price, on what was probably his last visit to Canyon before Tuesday's election, told a gathering of students at West Texas State University that the wife of his opponent, Congressman Graham Purcell, even sat in on one of his private staff meetings Thursday.

When students questioned his charge, Price reaffirmed: "Sure, my phone's been bugged. I have to have it cleared two or three times a day."

But, the congressional candidate passed these incidents — as well as the Watergate incident — off to what he termed the game of politics.

"That's a part of politics," he shrugged.

His response came after a question from a student concerning the so-called Watergate incident.

"Like Barry Goldwater said last week, McGovern hasn't created an issue over Vietnam, he hasn't created a domestic issue and I think he's concocted a lot of this," Price said.

Price was supposed to have simply walked through the student union building at WTSU, shaking hands and passing out campaign literature. But, a sociology class cornered the congressman and what was to have been a walk and smile session turned into a sometimes argumentative exchange between Price and a large group of students.

The students asked questions on almost every conceivable aspect of the campaign, as Price bandied about issues with apparent candor.

In a somewhat roundabout answer to a student question on why he refuses to debate Purcell, Price lashed out at the publisher of the Wichita Falls newspaper, who he said he is the Democratic county chairman in that county.

"The Wichita Falls paper has given about 500 inches of lineage to Purcell but only abcut 90 to us," he said. "This man (the publisher) has a monopolistic paper that brainwashes people."

Price said he will not debate Purcell because he doesn't want to give his opponent any more exposure than necessary.

The congressman accused Purcell of lying about several things — Purcell's probability of becoming chairman of the house agriculture committee, his statements concerning Price's non-sponsorship of a single bill in the Congress and his statements concerning Price absenteeism in Congress.

Price conceded that Purcell might eventually become chairman of the house agriculture committee, but he noted that if history repeats itself Purcell would be 86 years of age before he became chairman.

He said he had personnally sponsored eight bills which had been passed into law during his tenure in the legislature and had been co-author or sponsor of 36 bills passed into law.

In addition, Price charged that Congressman Olin Teague of Texas, chairman of a committee on which Price serves used his power to call committee meetings at any time to avenge an earlier Price disclosure about Teague's attendance record.

Dr. Hubert Oppe told Price the congressional election has become a mud-slinging campaign, which ultimately destroys voter confidence.

"It can't create confidence," Price said. "It destroys confidence, but I have to defend myself in some way."

Price avowed that he'd much rather tell the people about issues involved in the campaign. But, he said Purcell started the mud-slinging.

A good part of the hour session with students was spent on

Congressman Bob Price greets a student well-wisher outside the student union building at West Texas State University Friday morning before entering the building to meet other students. The congressman wound up his campaign in the Canyon area with the Friday visit.

Hot races end, balloting Tues.

More than 20,000 Randall County residents are expected to go to the polls Tuesday to cast their votes for this country's leaders for the next two to four years.

Just over 28,000 persons in the county have registered to vote in the general election, during which offices from the Presidency on down will be filled.

Polls in Canyon and urban areas of Amarillo and Lake Tanglewood open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Tuesday. In rural areas, polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton expects a record turnout based on percentages from past elections. In fact, he expects a turnout of more than 90 per cent in the county, well above the national average.

Already, voters have cast absentee ballots for the election. Absentee balloting ended Friday.

Twenty precincts will open their doors to the voters early Tuesday and the larget voter turnout is expected in Southwest Amarillo where 7700 persons have registered in three precincts. Registered voters from the South Amarillo area of the county total more than 20,000.

About 5,000 voters are expected to vote in the three Canyon precincts during election day.

Punch-card voting is used in Randall County for voters and the computerized counting operation is expected to begin shortly after the polls close Tuesday night.

Complete results will be printed in The Canyon News Thursday.

The official test of the computerized counting system will be held at about 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Four political parties have candidates on this year's ballot — the Democrats, Republicans and two new parties, La Raza Unida and Socialist Workers Party.

Candidates from each appear in many races.

Top race in the nation is between incumbent President Nixon and his Democratic challenger George McGovern. The Socialist Workers Party has a presidential candidate, also, Linda Jenness.

Barefoot Sanders, a Democrat, is pitted against John Tower, incumbent GOP senator, in that race with challengers also from the Socialist Workers Party and Raza Unida.

In the 13th Congressional District race, Democrat Graham Purcell goes against Republican Bob Price, in what is expected by many to be a close race.

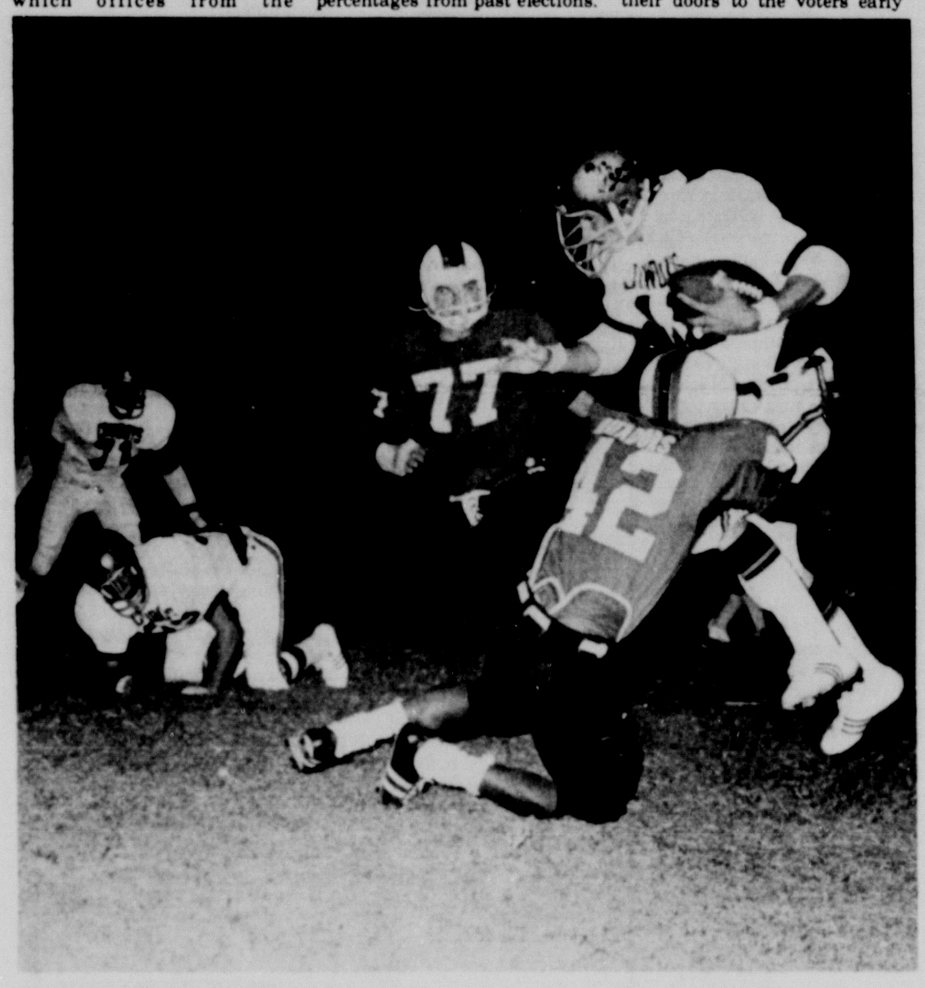

For governor, voters have a choice between Democrat contender Dolph Briscoe and GOP challenger Henry C. Grover.

Max Sherman, Democratic incumbent, runs alone for his seat as state senator from the 31st District.

Democratic incumbent Bryan Poff goes against reluctant challenger Rhett Plank, who tried last summer to have his name removed from the ballot only to find he must remain as a candidate.

W.C. "Cliff" Longest, incumbent sheriff serving out the unexpired term of the late Slim Johnston, runs unchallenged for sheriff of Randall County.

Quarterback Mark Hargrave heads around the end before he runs into trouble Friday night against the Matador Matadors. The Happy Cowboys, this area's most likely state champions, whipped the Matador team 48-18.

Key to sorghum future lies in the weather

The key to Randall County's multi-million dollar grain sorghum crop will be weather conditions in the next two to three weeks, County Agent John Brazzil said Friday as farmers and townspeople began cleaning up and assessing damage caused by last week's ice storm.

While the outlook for the sorghum crop looked grim Wednesday, Brazzil said there is some hope the majority of the crop can be harvested — if the weather is good.

"Some fields of unharvested Randall County grain sorghum withstood the ice storm in good condition," he said, "while other fields have a considerable amount of down heads and stalks."

Brazzil said most producers he talked with during the latter part of the week feel the weather during the next two weeks will be the determining factor in final losses suffered due to the sub-freezing icy spell.

The county's grain sorghum crop suffered a set-back in August when the weather played its first grim trick and offered no rain during the important maturing period for the plants.

This year's crop is valued at between $4 million and $5 million and is less than half harvested.

"The sorghum plants are now killed by the freeze and harvest will pick up as the ground and the grain reach dryer conditions," Brazzil said. "Stiff winds could be the major hazard since stalks with heavy heads and weakened and drying stalks can break and fall easily."

Brazzil believes most of the grain can be salvaged if good weather prevails for the next few weeks.

In the meantime, city residents slogged through mud under bright blue skies Thursday and Friday removing fallen tree limbs from their yards.

This area's worst ice storm in recent years heavily damaged already weakened trees in the city during its two-day encampment.

City Manager George Loudder, who announced last week that city crews will provide free pick-up service for all residences in Canyon of fallen tree limbs, said 70 loads of tree limbs were taken by the city to the city dump Thursday.

Crews continued Saturday to clean up and the massive job was expected to take an unestimated time to finish.

Canyon Boy Scouts took advantage of a holiday from school Friday to give the city crews a

Happy on course toward state title

This area's most likely state football champions, the Happy Cowboys stretched their district record to 7-0 Friday night by shellacking another Class B opponent.

The Cowboys, racking up more than 500 yards on offense for at least the third time this year, whammed the Matador Matadors 48-18 in an off-the-caprock tilt.

Sparkplugged by the power running of big halfback Chris Pearson, the Cowboys played a tight game of ball control as they maneuvered unscathed up and down the field in precision movements designed to eat up time and put points on the board.

The bulky Happy defense wouldn't budge an inch for the Matadors who put many of their hopes in little Cledell Campbell, a 135-pound speedster. But, Matador quarterback Steve Stevens punched holes in a jagged Cowboy defensive backfield as he peppered the Happy rear with passes during the second half of action.

The Cowboys scored almost every time they got the ball Friday night.

Their initial score came with less than 6 minutes gone from the first quarter clock as they drove just 20 yards for paydirt.

The score was set up when Gary Barrett recovered a bobbled punt on the Matador 20. In just three plays, the Cowboys had put Pearson around right end for 15 yards and the score.

Two minutes later, and the Matadors were on the clock.

After recovering a Cowboy fumble on the Happy 34, little Campbell scooted over left tackle for 34 yards and what might have been the tying score. But, Andy Hand and Ken Henry teamed up to block the extra point and the Matadors trailed with 3:03 left in the first quarter

Ice-damaged trees need pruning, care

The sudden winter blast and ice storm struck hard at the landscape trees and shrubs in Canyon and in Randall County and John Brazzil, county agent, offers suggestions on care and repair of damaged trees and shrubs.

Brazzil said partially broken and dangling limbs should be removed to prevent hazards as quickly as possible. The large limbs are salvageable for firewood.

A good pruning saw, long-handled loping shears, and antiseptic pruning paint are the minimum needed supplies and equipment for repair.

Safety equipment including sturdy ladders, safety belts, etc. will be needed by those who work in large trees, he said.

"Some heavy pruning will be necessary to repair damage," he said. "Limbs which are split or broken should be pruned back to a lower branch or fork. Jagged breaks and rough areas cannot heal properly. Limbs broken from the main trunk of the tree or shrub should be removed cleanly and smoothly flush with the trunk. Do not leave a snag or stump. Treat all exposed areas with a pruning compound after the cut area is dressed and smoothed."

The most troublesome injury is the repair of "V" crotches when large limbs or two main branches on the trunk have split apart, Brazzil said.

A skilled tree surgeon may be able to rejoin such tree parts by using elaborate hardware such as bolts, bracings, and special made devices but since the dormant season is ahead and new cells will not be generated until next spring, this type of

Sausage festival is just week away at Umbarger

The 20th Umbarger Sausage Festival is just one week away and again thousands of hungry, food-loving people from all over the country are expected to flock into the small German Community.

For weeks now, some 3,000 pounds of farm-fresh cabbage has been fermenting away, working itself into delicious sauerkraut, a vital part of the festive menu.

Thursday, the same people who six weeks ago gathered at St. Mary's Parish Hall to put up the kraut will be preparing the sausage which has made the town of Umbarger a gourmet's legend.

Using pork butchered by a commercial packing house, about 35 to 40 Umbarger neighbors grind and season the meat until it meets the high "taste test" standards that have caused the event to grow to its present magnitude.

"It's field tasted to make sure it's just right," said one who apparently had helped with the sausage making for several years.

According to Bernard Hartman, publicity chairman for the event this year, from 1,800 to 2,000 pounds of sausage will be turned out, with the steam cooking to take place on the morning of the Sunday event.

This year, as in years past, the menu will also include homemade bread, green beans, mashed potatoes, gravy, applesauce, relish dishes and cherry pie.

The anticipated 2,500 to 3,000 guests will be served from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. Tickets again are $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12 years of age. Children under age 6 will be served without charge.

In addition to the banquet-like meal, the community will again provide a country store stocked with bread and other food items, a bazaar offering handmade needlework, a fish pond and a raffle. Bingo, a part of past festivals, has been discontinued because of the large number now attending, Hartman said.

Among groups again expected to attend are the Air Stream Camper's Club from Lubbock, and the children from St. Ann's in Panhandle. The children's trip will again be sponsored by Harold Dillehay of the Farmer's Elevator.

For the past few years, both groups have attended, with the trailer club setting up camp at the location.

Tourism money to be asked by chamber for promotions

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce is expected to appeal to the City of Canyon at the city commission meeting Monday night for financial assistance in attracting tourists to the city and trade area.

Chamber president David West is scheduled to ask for up to one per cent of the city's budget as allowed by House Bill 226, passed and signed into law in 1971.

The bill, while allowing city governments to contribute to a City Board of Development, requires that a five-member advisory board made up of citizens be implemented to make recommendations regarding use of the funds.

Under the law, the City of Canyon this year could have contributed $4,639 to such a cause. The sum is based on 1972-73 budget figures.

In the operation of such a financial assistance plan, the citizen's advisory board would be responsible for recommending use of the funds, with final expenditures to be approved by the city commission.

The law allowing such use of public funds is limited to cities with populations under 500,000.

Commissioners will also review a petition requesting annexation of the W.R. Crow Subdivision located just east of the city and south of State Highway 217.

A petition signed by some 15 residents and landowners of the area requesting annexation is expected to be presented to the board.

The commission is also scheduled to prepare a statement for issuance at a public hearing being held Tuesday night by the Texas Highway Department in regard to proposed changes in the 15th Street-U.S. 60 intersection.

District title race is ended for Canyon's weary Eagles

The Canyon Eagles lost their district championship hopes Friday night when they dropped a 19-12 game to the Perryton Rangers at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium amid heated protests from coach Ron Mills.

With the Rangers leading 13-12 and 2:44 left on the scoreboard, Perryton's Bill Harrell broke loose with a 66-yard scamper to put the game on ice for the Rangers.

The Rangers had gone out in front in the second quarter on a 16-yard pass completion from quarterback Jimmy Dear to Harrell in the front corner of the endzone.

The kick by Perryton was no good.

The Eagles came back strong just before halftime after taking a Perryton punt out of bounds at the 8-yard line and moving it to mid-field as the gun sounded.

In that drive, the Eagles picked up two first downs with halfback Gary Bednorz eating up 29 yards on one long haul. The half ended as quarterback Ed Lair hit Bill Moore with a desperation screen pass which was stopped immediately at the mid-field stripe.

The Eagles tied it up at 6-6 in the third period when they put together three first downs and a pair of needle-eye passes.

After taking a Perryton quick-kick on their own 46, Bednorz got 5 yards on a trap and Lair hit Moore for a first down at the Perryton 40 for nine yards. A 5-yard penalty and a quarterback sneak gave the Eagles a first down at the Perryton 28.

From there, Lair tossed a bullseye to end Raby Ratliff near the 20 but it was ruled incomplete and returned to the 28. On the next play, halfback Gary Gerber grabbed another Lair toss at the

4 new directors named by chamber membership

Four new directors have been named by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce general membership, it was announced this week.

The directors are County Judge Woody Pond, Gene Glazener, Jerry Williams and Cordell Huddleston.

The new directors will take office Jan. 1, 1973.

Outgoing directors are Eddie Knowles, Eddie Holcomb, Dr. Robert West and Glazener. Glazener had been appointed to fill the unexpired term of Dr. C. C. Callarman who resigned from the director board.

The new directors will attend the chamber board meeting at 7 p.m. Monday and will vote on new officers for the board, but will have no other responsibilities until they actually take office in January.

County judge since 1970, Pond is a life-long Panhandle resident. He served as juvenile probation officer for the county for three years before his election as judge. He lived in Canyon from 1953-1960 and returned in 1967.

Currently, Pond serves as president of the Panhandle County Judges and Commissioners Association, president of the Panhandle-South Plains Youth Council, president of the Panhandle Community Action Corporation, and is a member of the local Lions club as well as several other legal organizations.

Huddleston, a native of Plains, is vice president and cashier of West Texas State Bank. He joined the bank in October 1970 after serving in a similar position at the Plains State Bank. Huddleston is a member of the Lions Club and is assistant Sunday school superintendent at the First Assembly of God Church here.

Glazener, a Canyon resident four years, is a certified public accountant. A native of Dalhart, he moved to Canyon from Amarillo. He is a member of the Lions Club and several professional organizations.

Williams, best known to area residents as Tuck Yelldell in the musical production of "TEXAS", is a Canyon businessman. He

Siftin' With Sands

Many Bumps Found In Road To Riches

By JIM SANDS

You know, it's funny how times change. When I was a kid growing up in Eastern Arkansas I thought if I wanted to get rich I'd have to strike oil or invent a "Hula Hoop" or something like that. Now days tho, it's the athletes... the guys who kick and throw balls around ... who make all of the money.

Of course I was pretty active in sports during my younger days. I remember when I was in the 9th grade and went out for the basketball team. Most of the other kids were 7th and 8th graders.

I must have been pretty good too, because the coach was always using me as an example to the other players. I can still hear the coach yelling at one of the other boys, "No, Joe! No! That's the way Sands does it ... I've told you a thousand times to watch Sands and do exactly opposite."

Well, I never did get into a regular game that year but I almost did in the district tournament. We were getting beat by about 52 to 12 and only had five men on the court and me on the bench. Everybody else had fouled out.

Anyway, one of the five on the court fouled out and the coach looked down the bench at me. "O.K. Sands," he bellowed, "Get in there and tell them we'll play with four men."

Well, the officials wouldn't go along with that. They said we couldn't play with just four men if we still had someone on the bench ... so the coach put me in.

I had always practiced with my glasses on but the referees made me take them off for the game. Seemed they thought I'd break them and get hurt or something.

Anyway, we were moving the ball down the court and all of a sudden the other team intercepted a pass. We reversed directions and I ran over one referee. Then we got the ball back and started back the other way. And I ran over the other referee. Yep, we finished the game with four men on the court and me back on the bench.

But basketball wasn't the only sport that I was good at. We also had a baseball team.

I was a catcher, mainly because no one else was stupid enough to get behind the plate without a mask and the other stuff.

Anyway, we played our home games in sort of a cow pasture and it didn't have lights. And sometimes the games lasted a pretty long time.

One day we were all tied up about 15 to 15 in the 21st inning and it was getting pretty dark. The other team was at bat and there were two out. The batter hit a hot smash just over the second baseman's head into right center field. Joe Elrod, our right fielder, and "Flutsey" Patrick, our centerfielder, took off after the ball as it darted through the semi-darkness.

"Flutsey" had bad eyes but he would never wear glasses. Anyway, about the time he reached over to pick up the ball, a rabbit went hopping by. "Flutsey" grabbed up the bunny and hurled it toward home plate, a destination the opposing runner was about reach with the winning score.

"Flutsey's" throw came in to me on one hop and when I grabbed it and tagged the sliding runner, the ump yelled, "Out by a hare."

The game was called because of darkness and as best I remember, we never did get to finish it up.

Close Race Predicted

By CARROLL WILSON

About the safest thing you can say about the congressional campaign which pits Bob Price against Graham Purcell is that it's almost over.

The two candidates wrapped up their campaigns in Canyon Friday. Price shook hands and underwent an hour question session at West Texas State University during the morning and Purcell spent at least part of the evening at the Canyon Eagle-Perryton Ranger game in Kimbrough Stadium.

Any prediction on the outcome of this race would be difficult to make. Both candidates express confidence.

The decision for voters will be a hard one, I think — hard for those who don't vote a straight party ticket.

If the personal attacks which have characterized the congressional race are cleared away and the issues are examined, the difficulty in making a decision is obvious.

The candidates are conservative and they are at odds on few issues.

While Congress was in session, for example, it was a real horse race to see which Congressman, when presented with a thorny problem, such as hide exports, DES ban, the Russian wheat deal, could call for legislation dealing with the problems first. Usually, their reactions were similar if not the same.

The recent arguments about who supports President Nixon the most is an example of the lack of difference in the politics of the two.

Perhaps that's one reason the campaign in its waning weeks reached ground level in terms of mud slinging.

With the campaign near conclusion, it's pretty well a foregone conclusion that we're going to have Good Ole Dick to kick around for four more years.

The big question in many minds now is what's in store for us in 1976.

Teddy Kennedy is almost sure to emerge with the Democratic banner, but who will carry the standard for the Republicans?

Nixon's next four years could be the last four years for quite a while during which the GOP will retain the nation's highest office.

Revenue sharing money is on the way, some several hundred thousand dollars of it.

What will the city and county do with it when it gets here?

That's a question even city and county officials can't or won't answer right now.

Probably the best idea to come up on revenue sharing money is one already used in this area. City commissioners and county commissioners should appoint an advisory committee of citizens to examine local priorities and recommend where and how the money should be spent.

My hunch is that all that money isn't needed in Canyon. But, we've got it, and rather than dreaming up ways to use it I believe use of the funds should be studied long and hard.

Mrs. Marguerite Strain, who's been a city employee 27 years, could retire next spring. If she does, she'll receive retirement benefits at the rate of 5 per cent less than a man with equivalent service to the city.

Mrs. Strain has written several letters to attempt to get the Texas Municipal Retirement System to change their benefit structure.

Currently, according to law, the system discriminates on the basis of sex in that it allows men 5 per cent more benefits than it allows women with equal tenure.

The head of the system has denied it discriminates. He obviously doesn't know the law. And, he's obviously not going to change his system until forced.

Right now, Mrs. Strain is pondering her next move. She's been told she will have to file charges of discrimination against the City of Canyon, since the city endorses and enforces the system's discrimination by retaining the Texas Municipal Retirement System for its employees.

She's hesitant to do so.

And, she's also a little hurt that Canyon's city commissioners have apparently taken no action to help her.

City Manager George Loudder said last summer he'd back Mrs. Strain "a hundred per cent" in her quest to receive fair treatment.

So far, Mrs. Strain's received no indication that Loudder's given her one per cent support. She's received no indication that he's even too concerned about it.

And, city fathers have remained publicly mum about the retirement inequities.

Perhaps the extra five per cent Mrs. Strain would receive if the retirement system were't flagrantly breaking the law, seems inconsequential to the doctor, the insurance man, the businessman, the dentist and the retired businessman of the city commission.

But, it's a matter of grave concern for Mrs. Strain, who has devoted 27 years of her life to the city government.

Highway Changes To Be Talked At Public Hearing Tuesday

A public hearing to allow interested parties to discuss and ask questions in regard to proposed grade crossing changes in Canyon and just to the north of the city will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Canyon Community Center.

The hearing will be presided over by Texas Highway Department engineers, headed by district engineer "Chili" Smith. According to highway department sources, the proposed changes will affect the intersection of 15th Street and U.S. 60 in Canyon, and the intersection of Hunsley Road and U.S. 87 and 60 near Kimbrough Memorial Stadium.

The proposed project inside the city would call for an underpass to carry the four-lane highway under the city street. This would eliminate north-south city traffic having to compete with the high-speed highway traffic, said assistant engineer Richard C. Crandall of the highway department.

According to highway department plans, the service roads would remain in their present locations, and no changes would be made in the existing city street.

Cost of the 15th Street-U.S. 60 project has been set at $627,000 and reportedly will result in displacement of only one older building.

The Hunsley Road project, to cost an estimated $227,000 and create no displacement, would extend the dead-end road over the highway, allowing southbound service road traffic to turn north without the necessity of driving into Canyon, according to the highway department spokesman.

It would also turn the service roads into one-way traffic arteries, said Crandall.

According to County Judge Woody Pond, the county commission has in the past discussed the possibility of extending Hunsley Road east to Washington Street. "But no official action has been taken," he added.

The extension of Hunsley Road and a possible future access road leading into West Texas State University is dependent upon whether or not the proposed grade crossing change is made, Pond said.

According to Crandall, the proposed projects are "a good ways from accomplishment," but he added that they were far enough along to warrant the public hearing.

Construction bounds for both projects would stretch from State Highway 217 (11th Street) to Buffalo Stadium Road.

Plans regarding the project will be displayed at the meeting and similar plans and information are available to the public at the highway department's resident engineer's office in Canyon, at the Canyon City Hall, and at the Randall County Courthouse.

Persons desiring to submit written statements regarding the proposals will have ten days after the public hearing to do so.

Russian Wheat Suit To Be Eyed Monday

Area farmers are expected to attend a meeting Monday night here to continue discussions begun last week on whether a federal lawsuit should be filed against grain companies involved in the recent so-called Russian wheat deal.

The meeting is at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Lindsey Land and Cattle Co. office.

State Rep. Bryan Poff, who came to Canyon last week and talked with local farmers about a class-action suit, is expected to be at the meeting.

Three members of the county Farmer's Union met with Poff last week and said they would round up farmers to attend Monday's meeting.

Poff told the farmers last week he had been contacted by two Washington attorneys, one an ex-attorney general, about carrying the Randall County suit.

Poff said he believes the suit could be won in federal court. He said he believes information concerning the pending U.S.-Russia wheat sale was leaked to large grain companies allowing them to make huge profits on grain sales.

France Gives To WT Group

The French government has made a $200 grant to a West Texas State University French honor society as a result of a cultural visit to the campus.

The grant to Pi Delta Phi came from the cultural service division of the French Embassy in Washington.

Cultural attache F. Stuyck-Taillandier recommended the grant after attending a Pi Delta Phi initiation ceremony at the university last year. The invitation was extended by Karen Harp of Amarillo, society president at the time.

Jean Harve Donnard, embassy cultural advisor, said the grant would "show the sympathetic interest with which the cultural service of the French Embassy in the U.S. follows the activities at West Texas State University in favor of our culture."

Pi Delta Phi recognizes outstanding scholarship in French language and literature.

Two Canyon students have been elected officers of the Sociology-Social Work club at West Texas State University.

Junior Stanley Mong, a social work major, was named treasurer and senior Nancy Haning was elected to the public relations position.

Poison In Sorghum After Ice

Cattlemen who have been running cattle on fields which contain stalks and stubble of forages such as cane, sudan, Johnsongrass, grain sorghum, forage sorghums or plants within the sorghum family should remove the cattle for a few days to prevent death loss from poisoning.

A deadly poison called prussiac acid develops in the sorghum family of plants when first killed by frost or freeze, according to County Agent John Brazzil.

The poison develops often without warning and cattle grazing on the forage may die within a matter of minutes after eating the material.

The materials become safe again after a week to ten days after the plants have been dried after the freeze and safe grazing may be resumed, Brazzil said.

The frozen plants may be safely made into hay as the curing and drying process decreases prussic acid in the plants.

Science Program To Be Aired

A relatively new program in the teaching of the life and physical sciences will be outlined to elementary and junior high school teachers at Perryton Thursday by a West Texas State University professor.

The program, developed by Science Curriculum Improvement Study (SCIS) of Berkeley, Calif., "puts emphasis on student inquiry and science concepts," said Dr. Ronnie L. Waide, associate professor of education.

Waide will conduct the all-day workshop for the Perryton teachers.

"SCIS is highly adaptable to current programs being taught," he said. "I think it has one of the strongest life science approaches used today."

The WTSU educator attended a National Science Foundation Institute in Philadelphia last summer where he was trained in the SCIS program.

"It is one of the three major science curriculums for elementary schools in the country now," he said. "The program is strong on the East and West coasts but this is the first time for it to be brought to Texas."

Waide said where SCIS favors other science curriculum programs is that it lets the students get involved. "They are doing things instead of watching a teacher," he added.

He said the program "ties directly into the state-adopted text book series. It strengthens, the text book program."

Schools interested in learning more about the Science Curriculum Improvement Study should contact Waide through the WTSU College of Education, he said.

Letters
To The Editor

McGovern-Wallace Link Eyed By John Kahler

Dear Troy:

This past Sunday the Canyon News printed a long political letter signed by various political followers of George McGovern. In this letter, the writers listed correctly the various public offices held by Henry A. Wallace but they failed to understand the spirit of the times of the opening years of the Cold War. Nineteen forty-eight was the grim year of the communist seizure of power in Czechoslovakia and of the Russian blockade of West Berlin, but these events were not mentioned in the letter which tried to justify the past association of George McGovern with the so-called "Progressive Party" in 1948. The letter did not mention that Henry A. Wallace fought against the Truman Doctrine, the Marshall Plan and the Berlin airlift. How did George McGovern stand on these questions?

A more fundamental question is why the Christian moral conscience of George McGovern was not more troubled by the imposition of Soviet control upon much of Eastern and Central Europe in the years which followed the end of the Second World War. Both as a Democrat and as a student of history George McGovern should have remembered and have valued the great diplomatic work of a great Democratic President of the United States, Thomas Woodrow Wilson, to secure the independence of Poland and Czechoslovakia. By the same tokens, both Henry A. Wallace and George McGovern should have understood that the brutal imposition of Soviet control upon Eastern Europe and the flagrant violations by Stalin of the pledges which he made at Yalta to President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston S. Churchill constituted the basic causes of the Cold War. Why did Henry A. Wallace and George McGovern denounce the work of their own country under the Presidency of their fellow Democrat Harry S Truman to contain the expansion of Stalinist Russian imperialism?

The claim that the state visit of President Nixon to Moscow represents the adoption of the foreign policy of Henry A. Wallace is not valid. The state visits of President Nixon first to Rumania and then to Poland indicate that the United States does not accept the argument that the Soviet Union has a natural sphere of influence in Eastern Europe. Clearly the visits of President Nixon to Rumania and Poland were designed to encourage the sentiments of national independence in these two Eastern European states. The fact that the United States continues to grant diplomatic recognition to the legations of the former governments of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania serves to confirm that the United States has not recognized as legal the Russian conquests in Eastern Europe. The visit of President Nixon to Moscow was for practical national business and without the pro-Soviet sentimentalism of the "Progressive Party" of 1948.

If the followers of George McGovern now seek to justify the association of their candidate with the self-designated "Progressive Party" of 1948, does this constitute a repudiation of President Truman by the victors in the most recent Democratic National Convention?

Thank you for printing this long letter which comes near to being a guest editorial.

Sincerely,
John Knapp Kahler

Teachers Support Amendments

Dear Mr. Martin:

The importance of having qualified people holding public office in Texas cannot be underestimated. The public officials of our state determine the legal and fiscal course Texas will take now and in years to come. It is necessary, then, to fill each of these responsible positions with a person who has a sound judgment, an acute awareness of current conditions on the local, state, and national levels, and an independence from undue pressure by monied special-interest groups.

The increasing number of items of legislation to be considered by our lawmakers makes it necessary that each representative spend more and more time studying bills, attending hearings, and generally doing our legislative work in Austin. At the same time the expense of political campaigns is skyrocketing. These problems place added burdens on a legislator, who must sometimes choose between neglecting legislative business to support himself and his family, going into debt, or accepting money in the form of various fees from special groups—money that might eventually cloud his impartial approach to legislation.

For the reasons stated, Canyon Classroom Teachers Association urges voters to support constitutional amendments #1 and #11, which would raise salaries for public officials. The proposed salary increases tend to reflect more fairly the amount of time these people must spend in our behalf. We feel that a vote FOR amendments #1 and #11 will be a vote for better state government.

Sincerely yours,
Herman Demus, President
Canyon Classroom
Teachers Association

JVs Downed By Dumas 34-8

Canyon High School's junior varsity football team lost to Dumas Thursday night by a score of 34-8.

The JVs were held scoreless until the fourth quarter when Jerry Collins romped into the end zone from six yards out. A two-point conversion was tacked on by the running of Jimmy Moore.

The leading groundgainer for the JVs was Adrian Foil who rolled up 103. He was followed in the rushing column by Collins who had a total of 84.

Foil and Andy Grimes led the JVs on defense with each taking credit for three tackles and nine assists.

Pig raisers, 4-H and FFA members take note!

Tomorrow, Nov. 6, in the Randall County Livestock Building, the first annual pig sale of Canyon's BONDED DUROC FARM will take place at 7 p.m.

Tomorrow's sale is featuring barrows to be raised as show animals. There are from 100 to 150 of these pigs ranging in size from about 50 pounds to 100 pounds.

Also on sale will be 65 registered Duroc females and 25 registered Chesterwhites females, also from the Bonded Duroc Farm 20 miles southwest of Canyon on FM 1705.

"Every animal on the farm is registered," says "Shug" Bonds, son of the manager, Eugene Bonds Sr.

The farm also boasts one of the few herds in Randall County that is validated against Brucellousis, a dreaded disease by swine raisers.

The farm is one of two in Randall county that is a member of the 100 Club.

"A member must register 100 head of breeding stock per year to acquire and maintain his membership in the club," explains Shug.

The Bonds specialize in Durocs because they found them to be the most prolific.

"When we started raising breeding pigs, we experimented with five or more different breeds. The Durocs tended to produce more and better pigs than the other breeds," said Shug.

The farm also raises Chesterwhites. Shug explained that the breeder may want to use these pigs in his breeding program to take advantage of the "hybred vigor" that results when certain breeds are crossed.

"Or he may simply prefer the popular long white hog. In either case we can help him," says Shug.

For more facts concerning the pig sale or advice concerning the swine industry or market, call Eugene S. Bond Sr. or Shug at the farm, 655-2607 or call Eugene at his home, 655-2646.

welfare and welfare reform.

In response to questions, Price said he favors welfare for citizens who because of physical or mental infirmity cannot work and make livings for themselves. But, he said he is against welfare for able-bodied men who could find a job.

If men cannot find jobs in their own fields, he said, they should be retrained for other jobs.

Trees. . .

repair will often fail," he noted. "Most homeowners should remove one of the split limbs, carefully dress the exposed wood, smooth the injury with saw and chisel and treat the exposed wood with pruning paint.

Breaks and splits in the small limbs should not be neglected. Limbs up to one inch in diameter will probably heal properly if smoothly cut without wound protection but limb breaks larger than one inch will need attention.

"Severe dehorning has no place in tree repair and should be avoided," he stressed. "Dehorning is the complete top removal of large trees back to a few large stubs. This is not pruning but is often used as a time saver by inexperienced workmen or homeowners who do not wish to pay the cost of proper pruning. The choice to make is to decide to have the tree properly shaped or removed."

The elm tree is apparently the most severely damaged one, he said. During the past summer the insects such as the elm leaf beetle have reduced the vigor of elms and many are now unthrifty and unattractive and he said this might be a good time to remove some of the elm and replace them with better tree species.

Brazzil recommends that large tree species such as the thornless locust, improved hackberry, fruitless mulberry and pecan may be used as replacements. Most species of the evergreen family commonly called cedar are well adapted here. Pine trees such as the Austrian and Ponderosa do well here, and the blue spruce is a choice evergreen. Smaller trees such as the crab apple and sour cherry make attractive small ornamental additions, he said.

"When the clean-up and pruning has been done to remove evidence of the latest storm the job is not complete," he said. Follow up chores such as additional pruning and shaping for several years nay be necessary to reestablish some of the tree and shrub shapes and forms."

Cranmers Host Foreign Students

A gathering of 75 international students, their friends and sponsors sampled foreign and American dishes while becoming better acquainted at the L.E. Cranmer ranch southeast of Canyon last Sunday night.

The dinner was one of a series of monthly dinners for the International Student Association and their friends, hosted by people in the Canyon area. Foreign students usually wear their national costume and bring a native dish.

The International Student Association includes students from Hong Kong, Thailand, India, Japan, Columbia, Ecuador, Peru, Pakistan, Taiwan, Philippines, Chile, Latvia, Lebanon, and associate members from other countries as well.

Hsiang-kuen Mao of Taiwan, a student at West Texas State University, is president of the organization. Mrs. Carla Rodriguez of Canyon is the secretary.

helping hand by stacking fallen limbs by the curb in front of residents' houses.

Loudder said crews cleared the front yards of all residences on 4th Avenue Friday and other priority streets were 5th and 3rd Avenues.

"We'll probably put on part-time people next week to help," Loudder said.

The city manager said local residents who wish to haul off their limbs can make free dumps at the city dump north of Canyon.

Joe Gidden, manager of Southwestern Public Service Co. in Canyon, said all main line electric service to Canyon and rural customers had been restored at weeks end. Even so, he said, service to some isolated areas of the county was still out.

Local crews, reinforced by four crews from Lubbock and one from Hereford worked around the clock much of last week repairing fallen power lines.

Gidden said about 300 customers were affected by power outages during the storm, which he termed the worst since 1959.

The electric company manager said many residents suffered power interruptions repeatedly during the early week storm because tree limbs fell on the lines after they were repaired.

This week, company crews will be making their repairs permanent.

"I'd like to thank all our customers for being patient until we could get them back on," he said. "We find the people in this county have the helping hand out and do anything to assist you."

Eagles. . .

10 and carried it into the end zone.

Canyon's try for the point after failed when the kick was knocked down by either team's forward wall. The TD had come with 3:30 left in the third period and made the score 6-6.

The Rangers took the Eagle kickoff in the person of Mike Haberthur who returned it from the 20 to the 40. From there the Rangers marched the 60 yards in eight plays, scoring on a power sneak by Dear.

The second conversion kick by the Rangers was through the uprights, making it 13-6 with 11:28 remaining in the game.

Steve Williams bobbled the Perryton kickoff at the 27, picked it up and returned it to the 35 before being brought down. From that point, Lair tossed a screen to Moore, good for 8, and then handed off to Bednorz for another 6. A 5-yard drop-back pass to Bednorz was good for 5 yards and a sneak up the middle for one gave the Eagles a first down on the Perryton 44.

Two plays later, Moore took another Lair pass to the 37. Lair missed Gerber on a bullet into the flat but then connected with Ronnie Cates for 14 at the 23.

Bednorz made no gain hitting the tackle slot and then Lair lost 12 yards when he was trapped in the backfield. With just under six minutes to play, Lair, operating from the 35, found Roger Burton at the 10, giving the Eagles their fourth first down of the series.

After Bednorz moved the ball to the 8, Lair found Roger Burton in the end zone for the second Eagle TD of the night.

A passing attempt for two points after was knocked down, but a Perryton penalty gave the Eagles another chance. On the second try, Moore hit the line but was short of the marker.

Perryton got the Eagle kickoff on their own 24 and after ground blasts by Ranger backs, they had third and one at the 34, just inches short of a first. It was on the next play that Harrell broke through the left side of his line, side-stepped a half dozen defenders, and then outran the pack into the end zone.

The try after was in the form of a pass to Don Martindale but it was called back for a Perryton penalty. The second try ended in failure when a Dear pass was caught out of bounds.

Canyon took the ensuing kickoff at the 35 when the Rangers tried an on-side boot. After a pitch to Moore around the left side saw no gain, Lair dropped back and heaved a bomb which was intercepted by Perryton on the Ranger 40.

With only two minutes left in the game, the Rangers used a series of penalties and line plays to run out the clock. As the final gun sounded, the visitors had the ball at the 45, moved there by a 5-yard infraction by the Eagles.

Canyon rolled up a total of 252 yards to 222 for the Rangers, with 150 of that coming on the arm of quarterback Lair. Unofficial figures showed Lair hitting 16 of 32 with the one interception.

Moore picked up 15 yards rushing and 48 on pass receptions while Bednorz got 80 on the ground and 6 in the air.

Coach Ron Mills said following the game that he "was proud of the boys. Perryton didn't beat us, the Amarillo officials did."

Mills then cited a half dozen official decisions that cost the Eagles possession of the ball or long yardage.

An apparent pass interception by the Eagles near mid-field, voided by defensive holding penalty, and one long Eagle pass ruled incomplete, were two that hurt the Canyon team, said Mills. "The 90 yards in penalties cost us over 200 yards," he added.

According to Mills, there was no doubt that Moore had gotten into the end zone on his try for the two-point conversion. The coach doubted that the Perryton quarterback had gone across on the Ranger's second touchdown. "He fell across afterward," Mills claimed.

The coach said his boys did an exceptional job, especially since they were operating without the services of four starters. "They deserved to win," Mills concluded.

Happy. . .

by 7-6.

Seven plays later, with just a minute remaining in the quarter, the Cowboys scored again, this time on a razzle-dazzle reverse with Teddy Offield going over from the Matador 30. Again, the kick was good to make the score Happy 14 and Matador 6.

Happy got moving again early in the second quarter after forcing the Matadors to punt. Taking over on their own 30, they drove 70 yards in 8 plays with Pearson taking the ball in from the 2. The kick was good and with 8:35 remaining in the first half the Cowboys led 21-6.

Again forcing the Matadors to punt after only four plays, the Cowboys raced downfield from their own 35 this time scoring on a 1-yard run up the middle by Greg Looney. The kick split the crossbars and gave Happy a 28-6 edge.

Matador quarterback Stevens took to the air to put the Matadors on the scoreboard with less than 2 minutes remaining in the first half. The 26-yard missile hit Berry Bostick in the endzone and narrowed the Happy lead to 28-12.

On the initial set of downs in the second half, the Cowboys drove from their own 37 to paydirt in 9 plays with Looney going the last 18 yards around the left end. With 8:40 remaining in the third period, the Cowboys retained a substantial 35-12 lead.

Matador narrowed it again on the next series of plays, launching their first sustained drive of the night on the passing arm of Stevens. Stevens connected with his favorite target Bostick on three plays, the last of which was a 25-yarder for the TD. The pass helped but the Matadors still trailed with 5:41 remaining in the quarter by 35-18. It was their last score of the night.

The Cowboys romped back in the next series of downs and drove up the middle and over the sides, punching severe holes in the Matador line to consolidate their lead with 3:08 in the quarter on a 3 yard run by Looney. As the third quarter ended, the Cowboys held a commanding 41-18 lead.

Eight minutes later, the Cowboys hit pay dirt again, this time on a run through the middle of the line by Johnny Payne for four yards and Happy's 48th point.

For the next seven minutes Matador tried several unsuccessful rallies, while Happy launched another attack in the closing minute and as the final gun sounded Happy was threatening from the Matador 1 yard line.

The Cowboys racked up 553 yards on offense compared to a meager 202 for the losers. More than 530 yards of the offensive push came on the ground.

Happy tallied 29 first downs compared to less than 10 for the Matadors.

In attempting to put scores on the clock, Matador quarterback Stevens took to the air 19 times, completing 8 and having two intercepted.

Cowboy quarterback Mark Hargrave took to the air only four times and completed one pass.

Individually, Pearson racked up 200 total yards on offense, almost more than the entire Matador offense could muster.

Looney ran for 98 yards and Payne ran for 52.

Leading Matador rusher was Campbell with 59 yards.

The Cowboys play Sundown at 7:30 p.m. Friday night in Happy for their next-to-the-last season game.

Incumbent Republican Audrey Bruse faces Democratic challenger Ronnie Posey on the ballot for tax assessor-collector of the county.

Jim Fletcher, incumbent, and Paul Lindsey run alone in separate precincts for county commissioner.

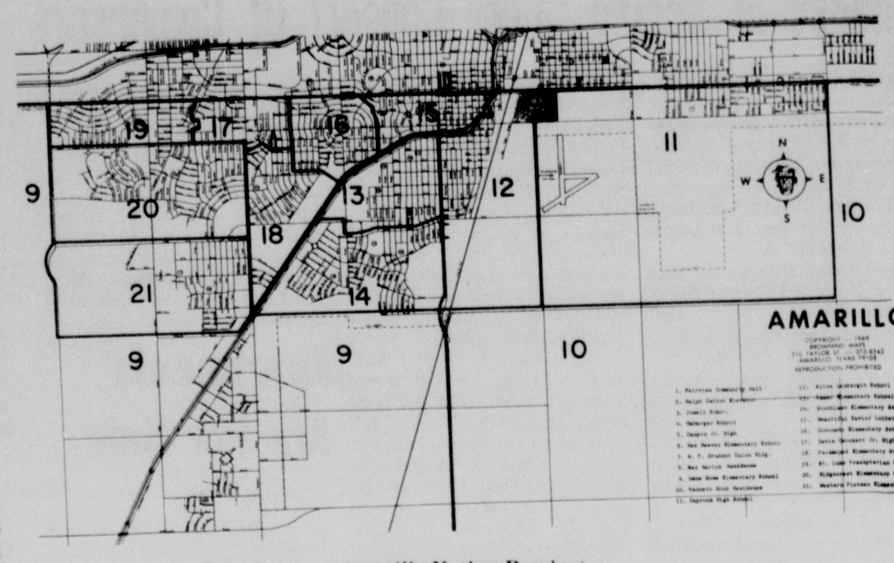

And, Farrell Randle is on the ballot as a candidate for constable in the county.

In some county precincts, those in South Amarillo, voters will find a proposition on their ballots on the legal sale of all alcoholic beverages including mixed drinks.

Every ballot includes 14 constitutional amendments which must be decided by voters.

The amendments range from those concerning action for specific areas of the state to those which call for a constitutional revision and women's equality.

Hutton said a new ruling by the secretary of state says county residents may take a list of the constitutional amendments into the voting booth with them. Law still prohibits voters from taking pre-marked ballots for candidates into the booths.

The concert will feature four artists: Virgean Latson, pianist, Donald Todd, violinist, and Lynn Brown and Nancy Bassett, duo pianists.

Lynn Brown and Nancy Bassett will play "Concerto in D Minor for Two Pianos" by Poulenc, and Donald Todd and Virgean Latson will play "Sonata in A Major for Violin and Piano, Op 13" by Faure.

Both Lynn Brown and Nancy Bassett are natives of Amarillo and music teachers there. Mrs. Brown studied with Leo Podolsky at the Sherwood Music School in Chicago, the Cherubini Conservatory in Florence, Italy, and at the Mozarteum in Salzburg, Germany. Mrs. Bassett, a graduate of Texas Tech, is presently assistant organist at the Polk Street Methodist Church and the vice president of the Amarillo Music Teachers Association.

Dr. Donald Todd and Mrs. Virgean Latson are well known to area concert goers and their presentation of the Faure Sonata promises to be a special treat. Dr. Todd, a professor of music at West Texas State University, is also concertmaster of the Amarillo Symphony. Mrs. Latson graduated from the Chicago Musical College and has been a concert pianist throughout the United States and Mexico.

The Alliance Francaise of Amarillo-Canyon is a non profit organization dedicated to furthering interest in French culture and language. Further information may be obtained by contacting the president, Murl Mordy, of the Modern Language department at WTSU.

Apartments Are For Sale

A trustee sale for Canyon Creek Apartments will be held between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Tuesday at the front door of the Randall County Courthouse.

A notice filed last week by Trustee T. L. Proctor offers the 100-unit complex for sale to the highest bidder.

FHA official Don Earney of Lubbock expects to purchase the property. The FHA insured the $1.2 million loan on the apartments, which are located on a 7.89 acre lot in north Canyon.

Earney said last week the FHA expects to assume ownership and will run the apartments for between eight and 16 months before attempting to sell the property to private investors.

County To Eye Radar Request

Highway Patrolman Ron Boyter is expected to appear before Randall County commissioners again Monday afternoon to formalize his request for additional radar equipment.

Boyter appeared two weeks ago and requested the county lease or purchase one and possibly two new radar units which would allow the highway patrolmen to take radar readings while their cars are in motion.

The county is also expected to consider a plat to be presented by Pete Hudson.

Canyon Student Is Awarded Geology Stipend

Joe Mark Baker, Canyon junior, has been awarded the Geology Merit Scholarship for the 1972-73 academic year at West Texas State University.

A former student of the Dalhart schools, Baker was graduated from Waco Richfield High School in 1968.

He and his wife, LaNette, reside at 2307 N. 3rd, Canyon.

News Brief

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Briggs and Mrs. A.A. Clark have recently returned from visiting with Dr. and Mrs. Barry G. Clark in Charlottsville, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Ted C. Briggs in Washington, D.C.

While there they went on the fall foliage drives in Virginia and in Tennessee. Mrs. Clark went with her son and family and spent the day in historic Williamsburg. As they drove home, the mountains of Virginia, Tennessee, and Arkansas were all ablaze with color, making it a beautiful drive.

The Purcell-McGovern Ticket

Would you buy a used car from a man who did not believe in or recommend what he had to sell ?

The answer is obvious! Of course you would not!

Isn't the future of your country worthy of the same consideration as the purchase of a used car ?

What does professional politician Graham Purcell really stand for ?

His multi-millionaire, power-hungry supporters, in a full page ad in the Amarillo papers, November 2, 1972 , contend that

"Graham Purcell supports every President when he thinks the President is right."

But Graham Purcell has firmly stated he supports George McGovern whom he thinks is wrong.

Read what this politician, gerrymandered into the Panhandle by the most corrupt Texas Legislature in history, says, and decide for yourself.

"I will vote for McGovern. I do not favor his platform or position but I will vote for him."

Read what such a man selling a used car would say:

"I want to sell you this car but its bearings are shot and its motor won't run -- I know it's no good but I love the money and want my commission."

Isn't the future of my country worth more than a politician without moral bearings or a beat-up car that won't run ?

With Ingenuity, Anyone Can Create A Fall Flower Arrangement

With nature's autumn pageant now in full swing in the Panhandle and providing ample materials, the Canyon Garden Club is urging everyone to enter their flower show, "Fall in Randall County," Nov. 16, 17, and 18.

Any adult or school child living in Randall County may enter an arrangement and be eligible to win a ribbon.

But Mrs. Joe Frank, one of the Garden Club members working on the show, stresses the important first step of collecting an interesting assortment of materials. A possible hard frost could destroy the color and texture of some of the foliage, and other materials may require drying or treating for a week or two.

For those who care to examine the landscape closely, autumn in the Panhandle brings on a profusion of burnished fruits and berries, coppery foliage, bursting seed pods, feathery grain heads and other novel forms. Placed in a pleasing container, combined with some interesting accessory — figurines, candles, weathered wood or rocks — such items could make an award-winning arrangement.

The materials Mrs. Frank uses include bean pods, seed pods from magnolias, dried fruit, gourds, squash, dried mushrooms, pine cones, yucca pods, wild dock, berries of all kinds, corn, small branches, Johnson grass, grain heads, cattails, dried okra, and so forth.

Some of the materials, such as bean pods or berries, may need drying. This is done by tying them in small bunches and hanging upside down in a place out of the wind and sun. "I dry mine in the garage," says Mrs. Frank.

Leaves, leafy branches or long blades of grass such as Johnson grass, may also be treated to retain their flexibility and color. This is done by immersing the stems in a solution of glycerine and water (half and half) for about a week and a half or two weeks. Glycerine may be purchased at a grocery or drug store.

Materials may be used in their natural state or painted, dyed or shellacked also. Some use a commercial liquid plastic to give a glossy effect to squash, rocks, pods and other materials.

The arranger may wish to use a pinholder or frog to hold the materials in the container. Tacky tape, a sticky substance in ribbon form, is also invaluable for positioning materials and may be purchased in a variety store.

"The next thing to consider after you've collected materials is the container," said Mrs. Frank. "It should not 'steal' from the arrangement, but blend with the whole. I wouldn't use anything with a highly glazed surface. And it is most pleasing if it has some color included in the arrangement."

"Plan an arrangement that will be at least one and a half times the width or height of the container," she continued, "and then place something tall to establish the height and line of the arrangement." She suggested a branch, cattail, tall sprig of Johnson grass or possibly dried okra for this.

Mrs. Frank explained that she usually placed the tall pieces, then the lower part of the arrangement, and after that filled in the rest of the arrangement. However, the arranger can really choose his own method to achieve an eye-catching effect.

"Something round should be included — usually flower forms, such as strawflowers, in several sizes," she added.

Most arrangements also contain some accessory to establish a theme. A figurine, large pumpkin, striking candle, artificial animal or bird might be used, for example.

The class titles for entries in themselves suggest a theme. "We tried to keep them simple so that anyone might feel capable of creating an arrangement," commented Mrs. Frank.

The classes are as follows: Class I-A arrangements, Thanksgiving centerpieces, open to any adult; Class I-B, "Indian Summer," open to novice arrangers; Class II, "Beauty in a Basket," for high school students; Class III, "For Father's Desk," for junior high students; and Class IV, "I Found Something Pretty," for elementary school students.

The entrant should write his name at the top of a piece of paper, and below that his grade, teacher's name and school. The identifying paper will be taped to the exhibit so that the name is not seen by the judges.

The Garden Club is asking that arrangements be brought to the all-purpose room at Rex Reeves Elementary School after school on Wednesday, Nov. 15 or before 1:00 p.m. on Thursday Nov. 16. They must be removed from the school between 3:30 and 4:30 on Nov. 18.

Gene Howe students may bring their arrangements to Gene Howe school where they will be shown on Nov. 17.

For further information, persons may call Mrs. Joe Frank at 655-4555 or Mrs. M. S. Downing, 655-3364.

The Panhandle is abundant with materials such as seed pods, corn, squash, berries, and cattails that can be used for making a fall arrangement for the flower show to be staged Nov. 17 and 18 in connection with Food and Fiber Week. Here Mrs. Joe Frank, a Garden Club member, displays some of the typical items used.

Dallas Firm Aids WTSU

Cottingham Bearing Corp. of Dallas launched West Texas State University's industrial distribution program with a contribution of $1,000 Friday night.

W.H. Wood Jr., Cottingham vice president, said the company would commit itself to the university's program for at least the next four years.

He said the company would place no restrictions on the use of the money for industrial distribution training.

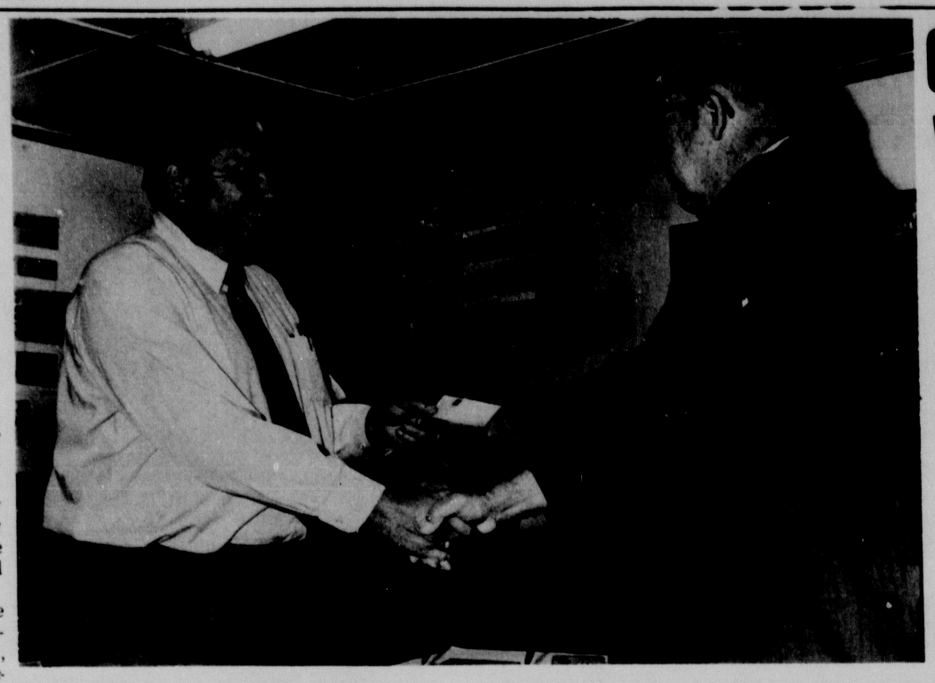

West Texas State is one of only three colleges in the country offering such a program in the Department of Industrial Education.

Graduates of the program are in high demand by industrial distributors throughout the country, said Michael Workman, instructor in industrial education at WTSU.

Charles Canida of Amarillo, Panhandle area manager of Cottingham Bearing, presented a $200 scholarship Friday night to initiate his company's interest in the WTSU program.

The recipient was Haley A. Haynes, 26, of Sanderson, Tex., a senior industrial distribution student. Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Haynes of Sanderson, is married and lives at 2100 1st Ave. in Canyon.

Cottingham Bearing has 21 stores in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, including Amarillo, Borger and Hereford. It is a distributor of bearings for various industrial uses.

Randall County Judge Woody Pond (Right) accepted a $1,000 donation check Friday from L.V. "Chris" Christianson of Amarillo for the Canyon Division of the WTSU Opportunity Plan. The fund is used to assist worthy students achieve their educational goals.

Black Curriculum Topic Of Seminar At WTSU

The Rev. Reynell M. Parkins, an Episcopal Church priest, educator and lawyer, was keynote speaker in the first in a series of seminars on the multicultural classroom which started Friday at West Texas State University.

The six, weekend seminars, open to teachers and school administrators, are co-sponsored by the WTSU College of Education and the University of Texas Center for Public School Ethnic Studies.

The black curriculum was the topic of this weekend's seminar.

The seminar commenced with a banquet Friday and closes at noon today.

The Rev. Mr. Parkins, 55, an associate professor in the School of Architecture at the University of Texas, was ordained to the priesthood in 1965 while serving the Episcopal Church in Corpus Christi.

A native of Panama, he was graduated by New York University with a bachelor's degree in sociology and later received a Juris Doctor Degree there.

After practicing criminal law, he moved to South Texas and worked with the City-County Welfare Division of Nueces County (Corpus Christi).

In 1964 he received a Master of Divinity Degree after three years of study at the Episcopal Theological Seminary in Alexandria, Va. That same year he was ordained a deacon and the next year a priest.

Upon his return to Corpus Christi, the Rev. Mr. Parkins established St. Martin's Episcopal Church — a tri-ethnic congregation with which he demonstrated the viability of a non-neighborhood church.

Through his efforts the six Episcopal churches in the Corpus Christi area joined to organize a non-profit corporation and build a rent supplement project consisting of 110 apartments and a community building.

In 1968 the Rev. Mr. Parkins was one of 12 delegates of the Episcopal Church in America to the World Council of Churches at Uppsala, Sweden.

He has taught at the University of Corpus Christi. He was the organizer and president of Community Development Corp. of Austin, a non-profit organization that serves to indemnify Austin banks against loss from loans made to low income persons for rehabilitation of their houses.

Other black curriculum seminar panelists included Dr. Harold W. Lang, who holds four degrees, including a Doctor of Education, and presently is director of systemwide testing for the Dallas Independent School District, and Hunter O. Brooks, Paula Barker and Margie Whatley, all of Houston.

Subsequent seminars will be on group techniques for classroom teaching next weekend and next Feb. 23-25; Chicano curriculum Nov. 17-19 and Dec. 1-3; and cultural awareness Jan. 19-21.

Profs, Students Return From Nat'l. Convention

Dr. Moreland and Workman have served on various committees on the national organization and Workman has been selected as assistant director of a region which includes six states.

Burney was named WTSU's member to the student executive council.

Two Amarilloans Face Charges

Two Amarillo men were arrested last week by Amarillo policemen and later charged with the felony offense of malicious destruction of property in connection with the damaging of more than a dozen cars in Potter and Randall Counties.

Eddie Dean Riley Jr., 18, and Louie Eugene Clark, 20, both of Amarillo, were arraigned late Wednesday before Justice of the Peace W. A. "Bill" Wilson, who set bond at $2500 each.

The two are charged with damaging one vehicle in Randall County, but Randall County Dist. Atty. George Dowlen said as many as 19 vehicles are believed to have been damaged by the pair.

Price is right for Texas.

Bob Price is a full time congressman. His attendance record on voting of 93% is one of the highest in the Congress. By comparison his opponent has the second worst attendance record in the entire Texas delegation.

Bob Price has approached legislation with a conservative and careful outlook. He has earned a 90% rating by the ACA, compared to his opponents 42%.

Bob Price has worked hard to bring new industry, expand present firms and to thereby create new jobs. The Panhandle's "Business Index" is one of the highest in Texas.

Bob Price has introduced or co-sponsored 36 pieces of legislation that have become public laws. These are a matter of record, in spite of his opponent's clever misrepresentations.

Bob Price fights against inflation. He has an 88% rating by the National Associated Businessmen's Economy. His opponent only 50%.

Bob and Marty own their own home in Pampa. Two of their children attend the Pampa public schools. Bob is a graduate of Okla. State. He returned to Pampa after the Korean War. Before his election to Congress he was active as a business leader, in civic affairs and taught Sunday School in the First Baptist Church in Pampa.

He was first elected to Congress in 1966. Was reelected in 1968 and because of his popularity had no opponent in 1970. When a man earns this respect from both political parties it is proof of his ability and hard work.

It's easy to see why people feel Price is right for Texas. He is an honest sincere person who stands up for his principles. Thank goodness, his principles are the same as made this country great.

Retired WTSU Math Prof Starts OPI Division

Announcement was made this week of the establishment of the Edna Graham Division of the Opportunity Plan, Inc.

Miss Graham of Waco, was one of West Texas State University's most eminent professors, having instructed mathematics here for 33 years. She retired in 1952, at which time a former student, Dr. John Randolph of the University of Rochester, initiated an Edna Graham scholarship fund.

Eighteen senior math students have been recipients of this scholarship.

Miss Graham presented Milton "Buff" Morris, executive vice president of the OPI, with an initial contribution Monday to establish the Edna Graham Division. She said she will add to the fund, and at the same time, with firm convictions concerning scholarships, declared she had made definite arrangements for increasing her gifts to the math scholarship fund.

"Miss Graham highly commended the purposes and achievements of Mr. Morris and the Opportunity Plan," Mrs. Alice Short Smith, McLean, says. Mrs. Smith, a WTSU alumna, accompanied Morris to Waco to visit with her former math teacher. She is also the benefactor of the J.C. and Amanda E. Short Division of the Opportunity Plan, Inc., and a member of the board of directors.

Morris commented, "Miss Graham is a great mathematician, a great teacher, a great lady, and we deeply appreciate her interest in and contributions to the Opportunity Plan."

Miss Graham, whose activities even after retirement could put young housewives to shame, became a world traveler during her 51 years as a teacher. She served in countless capacities associated with the university and educational organizations, not the least of which was national president of Alpha Chi. She sponsored the local chapter for 18 years. She was also a leader in Christian education at the First Baptist Church here.

Miss Graham has always contended that "there are many rewards in teaching." Upon her retirement in 1952, she boasted of her students as "jewels," and said she planned to "sit back and watch her jewels sparkle."

Although she did not "sit back," (she continued to travel, meet speaking engagements, and serve) her jewels have indeed been "sparkling." To be sure, recipients of her scholarship have attained distinctions in their own rights. Six have received the degree of Ph.D.; three others are pursuing the doctorate degree; four have received the master's degree; four have been involved in computer programming; and one is a NASA division manager.

Going somewhere? Or been? The Canyon News wants to know about it — and so do its readers.

Sue Hite Club Explores Oriental Art

Mrs. Ray Lumry, hostess for a recent Sue Hite Club meeting that featured oriental art, displays a woodblock print, Imara plate and statue of the "Goddess of Mercy" that were used in the program.

The home of Mrs. Ray Lumry, furnished with many fine examples of Japanese craftmanship, was an appropriate setting for the recent program on oriental art enjoyed by members of Sue Hite Club.

Using as examples actual works of art or reproductions, Miss Virginia Allen gave the history of oriental painters, showing the impact of art on cultural development.

Following Miss Allen's discussion, Mrs. Mitchell Jones, Mrs. Oscar Hinger and Mrs. Flora Phillips gave a three-part presentation on calligraphy, woodcuts, printing and running, again using examples and illustrations.

The hostess and those giving the program brought color and authenticity to the event by donning oriental costumes supplied by Mrs. Lumry, who had acquired them while she and her husband, Col. R. H. Lumry, were stationed in Japan during the years 1956-59. Mrs. Lumry and Mrs. Phillips wore kimonos, Mrs. Jones wore a Hoppy coat over pants, and Mrs. Hinger wore a Chinese costume.

Tea was served in Japanese style from a table covered with ramie cloth, centered with a floral arrangement in a low bowl placed on a bamboo stand. Guests were served with Japanese tea service by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hatcher Brown, Mrs. B. E. Perkins and Mrs. C. E. Crounse.

Among the items used to illustrate the program were three Japanese dolls, characterized as "Okota Player," "Madame Butterfuly," and a dancer, unnamed. They were handmade by Japanese dollmakers, experts in their craft, and wore costumes carried out in exquisite detail.

The dancing doll was a "Sayonara" gift by a high official to Col. Lumry when he left Japan, and bears on the back a farewell message in Japanese calligraphy.

"When you leave Japan you always give parting gifts, and they always give you one — that is the Japanese way," explained Mrs. Lumry. Col. Lumry had been stationed at Camp Zame near Yokohama as a high staff intelligence officer, and as such, he and Mrs. Lumry attended many state functions. "We did things we will never do again," she recalls, "such as attend a cherry blossom viewing party at the invitation of the foreign minister."

Among other works of art furnishing her living room are Japanese woodblock prints by the French artist Paul Jacoulez, whose works are partly out of circulation now. Fine examples of Imara pottery, statuary, and Japanese furniture can also be seen. A colorful folding screen is paneled in silk obi cloth of pine and foaming wave design in soft ivory, blue and green colors.

A teakwood chest and low curving "obi" chairs are some of the pieces of furniture that lend an Eastern flavor to the Lumry home. The chairs are so called because they can be upholstered with cloth from one obi.

The next meeting of Sue Hite Club will be at 3:45 p.m. on Nov. 27 at Rex Reeves Elementary School. Mrs. Edith Priddy will speak on "Religious Art and Architecture," with accompanying slides.

Mrs. Ray Lumry, 505 Taylor Lane, poses in Japanese style and costume, behind three dolls from her collection of Japanese art and craftsmanship acquired in Japan. They were used at a recent program of the Sue Hite Club.

Book Club Will Stress U.S. Heritage

A panel discussion on "Two Centuries of Americanism," aimed at reminding members of the American heritage and need to preserve it, will be the program for a meeting of the Woman's Book Club next Wednesday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the United Methodist Church.

Panel members for the program stressing patriotism will be Mrs. Andy DeWees, Mrs. M. J. Morris, and Mrs. Rose Kinzer. Hostesses for afternoon will be Mrs. T. K. Knighton and Mrs. D. K. McGehee. Mrs. Charles Harter will preside.

As part of the planned activities, members will repeat "The American Creed" and sing the last stanza of "America."

"The American Creed" is a blending of expressions from many historic documents, and reads as follows:

"I believe in the U.S.A. as the government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity, for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag and to defend it against all enemies." — by William Tyler Page.

Marketing Students Test Product Effectiveness

A North Texas small foods producer is using the student marketing club of the West Texas State University School of Business to conduct a test marketing survey for his product.

The producer is Ormando Ordonez, a Cuban refugee, who established International Delight and Candle-Light Foods at McKinney near Dallas last year. The company produces four varieties of Spanish food.

Ocie Chism, assistant professor of business and sponsor of the WTSU chapter of the American Marketing Association, said:

"We can help this company and at the same time give the students practical experience in marketing research, developing a channel of distribution and doing audit work."

Chism added that the students "will be getting experience in the same kind of work they would be involved in if they worked for any major food manufacturer."

The marketing club has begun distributing samples of the Spanish food in Canyon.

Accompanying the samples is a questionnaire which the consumers are asked to complete and return "to us for tabulation and recommendation to the food processor," Chism said.

The four types of food are Arroz Con Pollo, rice and chicken; Congri, rice and beans; Fiesta Rice, rice and vegetables; and Paella, seafood and rice.

A new aspect of the product is the "boil in the can" convenience, Chism said.

He said the food products will be for sale in the grocery stores in Canyon during November.

Students will be responsible for counting how many cans of the food have been sold each week at the control markets, and stocking and displaying the product.

Chism said, "We will take two counts a week at the test markets for two or three months. By that time the rebuying cycle should be established."

If the results are favorable, he said, the marketing club plans to expand its area of distribution to Amarillo and eventually to the entire Texas Panhandle.

"The product is aimed at the mass market and is competitively priced," Chism said.

Officers of the WTSU marketing organization are president William Sticksel of Amarillo, vice president Richard Phillips of Amarillo and secretary-treasurer Kathy Gulick of Del Rio.

Purple People Eaters Prove "Tough To Beat"

The Purple People Eaters of Kids Inc., football had a hectic season but their record of no wins, four losses and two ties hardly tells the complete story.

The Canyon 10-year-olds started off with a 0-0 tie and the following game was lost by a 6-0 score. The third encounter cost them a 14-0 loss and this was followed by another 6-0 squeaker defeat.

After failing to win in the first four games despite holding the opposition to a total of 26 points, the youngsters were finally overcome by a lopsided score, 28-6. And even in that one they were tied up 6-6 at the end of the half as they posted their first points of the year.

In the final game of the season, the Purple People Eaters again rose to the occasion and held a strong Lamar team to a 0-0 tie.

They didn't win a single game but, according to coach Wayne Williams, neither did they "get down on themselves." Williams said the boys "kept their poise" throughout the dismal times and not once faltered in spirit or in sportsmanship.

"A lot of teams would have lost heart and given up," the coach added.

9th Purple Takes Win Over White

The 9th grade purple downed the 9th grade white from Canyon Junior High School in a 20-0 rout Thursday night here.

Lindon Brazzile made the first purple score on a 20-yard pass from Allen Shankles. Extra point try was no good.

Craig Johnson followed his first score with a 60-yard run and Stan Prichard ran the extra point.

Final purple score was made by Phillip Halsted on a pass from Shankles. Again, the extra point try was no good.

Junior high football season ends this week.

The 7th grade white played Saturday and the 7th purple is to play Tuesday. The 8th grade purple and white teams are in action against each other Tuesday night while the 9th grade white meets River Road and 9th grade purple meets LaPlata.

Basketball season begins at mid-month.

Basketball Is Next For Kids

Football season for Kids, Inc., youngsters has ended and basketball season is just around the corner.

Forty boys said Thursday night they will play in a local Kids, Inc., basketball league.

Teams are expected to be formed within the next few weeks with each team to include between seven and 10 boys.

Girls won't be left out of this basketball season, because Kids, Inc., will also sponsor a girls basketball league.

At a meeting Thursday, Kids, Inc., sponsors decided to offer youngsters a soccer league next fall to run consecutively with football season.

The five Canyon football teams were presented patches during the meeting.

Members of the Pee Wee Eagles received four patches each, one for lettering, one for sportsmanship, one for participating in the Toy Bowl and one for their league championship.

Members of the Cyclones received three patches each, one for lettering, one for sportsmanship and one for playing in the Toy Bowl.

The Cougars received three patches each, one for lettering, sportsmanship and for winning their league championship.

The morning meal, which will be free for all servicemen, former servicemen and their families, begins at 7 a.m. and ends at 9 a.m.

Post commander Wes Kleinschmidt is in charge of the breakfast.

'Rain People' Due Showing

A housewife who forsakes hearth and home to launch on an American odyssey is the subject of The Rain People, a film to be presented Thursday and Friday at West Texas State University.

The Francis Ford Coppola film, a presentation of the Student Activities Council, will be shown at 8 p.m. in the activities center ballroom. Admission is 75 cents.

The Rain People takes the viewer onto the highways and byways of America.

To achieve realism, the film crew organized a caravan ranging from a bus to minibikes that formed a mobile film-producing unit with facilities for viewing and cutting film en route and a production office. The shooting was done in 18 states in as many weeks.

Starring in the film are Shirley Knight, James Caan and Robert Duvall.

Maurice Angly

State Treasurer

State Representative Maurice Angly is opposing incumbent Jesse James for state treasurer. Rep. Angly is an Austin attorney with a thorough knowledge of state government. A hard-working, effective legislator since 1967, Rep. Angly is married to attorney Surrenden Hill Angly. They have three children. Rep. Angly was one of the original small group of legislators who stood firm last year and spoke out for a full investigation of the Sharpstown scandal.

Rep. Angly is the only Republican ever elected in Austin, and he has been reelected twice as the top vote-getter of all GOP candidates on the ticket — because he earned bi-partisan support. Pledging to run the treasurer's office as a public trust, Rep. Angly would refuse to play favorites as James has done for years.

On November 7, vote for reform and responsible state government with Rep. Maurice Angly for state treasurer.
